Kin Arc group homes leaving County

Ministry presses for move to Durham Region, up to 50 jobs lost in this area

Five Haliburton area group homes operated by Kin Arc (formerly Browndale) will be closed down this summer, and the residents transferred to facilities in Durham Region.

Dorothy Easton, executive director of Kin Arc, said in an interview from her Toronto office on Tuesday that the Ministry of Community and Social Services has encouraged the move because most of the 30 young people in Kin Arc's Haliburton program are from Durham Region. It is in keeping with the Ministry's policy that children should be served in their own counties, Easton said.

"It's been a hard decision to make," Easton commented. The 50 staff members of Kin Arc's residences have been involved in the planning process, and will have to decide if they want to move to Durham region. Kin Arc's school in Stanhope Township will be closed and the teachers, who are employed by the Haliburton County Board of Education, may be reabsorbed into the local school system.

Leases on four of the seven buildings used by Kin Arc expire in June, and the organization hopes to negotiate a release from the other three, Easton said.

Kin Arc will continue to operate a summer camp in Haliburton County, and "eventually, we hope to run a year round educational centre in conjunction with the camp program," Easton said.

The decision to move to Durham Region was discussed with local social service agencies and the board of education at a meeting last Friday, Easton said.

Kin Arc plans to establish a non residential mental health service in the area, and will work closely with those bodies to determine needs, Easton said.

Dysart on notice over roof collapse

It is still not known why part of the roof of a storage shed at Haliburton Marine collapsed two weeks ago, but the Municipality of Dysart et al has been notified that it may be held at least partly responsible for the incident.

Insurance adjusters for the marina retained an engineer to examine the building following the collapse, which sent tons of snow, shattered trusses and roofing tin down on pleasure boats stored in the wood frame and steel sided structure. His report has not been made available to marina owners.

Municipal insurers Frank Cowan Ltd. also brought in an engineer, but so far his findings have not been detailed to the municipality.

Municipal involvement in the incident stems from the fact that it issued a building permit for renovations carried out on the building after it was damaged in a freak wind storm early in July. Any arguments over liability are likely to centre on the possibility that changes outlined in the permit application rendered the building inadequate to withstand a normal snow load.

If insurers for the marina and the municipality disagree on liability claims, it could take months, or even years, to sort the matter out. In the meantime, wood, steel and snow are being removed so that damage to boats can be estimated and insurance claims filed.

Marina owners declined to speculate on what the engineer for their insurance adjusters may have found when examined the collapse.

"I can't say a heck of a lot until we get the report," Gary McKnight, a partner in the marina, commented Tuesday. "Until then, we're just guessing."

Dysart et al council is expected to consider the matter of the municipality's possible liability at a meeting Monday.

Bob Fyfe of John Beachli Construction uses a back hoe to help remove debris from inside the boat storage shed at Haliburton Marine. Cause of the collapse, which occurred two weeks ago, is still uncertain.

Meeting planned for discussion on canoe museum

A county wide Historical Society may be formed late next month in a bid to help ensure that the Kanawa Canoe Museum remains in the area.

Stanhope reeve Harry Davis said Monday that a meeting has been set for March 22 to discuss the museum's future, and in particular, the possibility that an historical society could administer government and private sector grants to relocate the museum within the county, or to improve the present facility.

Two representatives from the Ministry of Culture and Recreation and an official from the Ontario Historical Society are expected to attend the meeting at Wig-A-Mog Inn.

Davis said a core group of people interested in the museum's future could form a county historical society at the meeting. The Stanhope reeve noted that Ontario Treasurer Frank Miller had suggested the society, in discussion with local officials, as a vehicle to seek funding from upper tier governments.

The meeting is expected to reveal approaches that might be taken to house the collection more safely and provide greater public access to it.

"We hope that we can do something," Davis said Monday. "I'm not selfish enough to say that it has to stay in Stanhope. I just want to see it stay in Haliburton."

Davis said he hopes a plan of action will materialize from the meeting.

"This is the time and place to do it," he said.

Haliburton now MNR fire base

Ministry of Natural Resources facilities in Haliburton are expected to become the central fire base for the Minden District. While a decision to locate all three fire crews in the facility on Head Lake has not been announced officially, "everything points to it" according to District manager Don White.

In the past, only one, five man crew has been stationed at the Haliburton facility, with a second crew operating from the District office in Minden and a third in Gooderham. If the expected change is implemented, all 15 men, plus a supervisor, would use the Haliburton Haliburton's hospital is no longer administered by the Ontario Red Cross Hospital board. Administration has been transferred to St. Joseph's hospital in Peterborough. Minden's hospital is also twinned with St. Joseph's now.

Hospital control transferred

Twining with St. Joseph's caps years of negotiations

Administrative control of the hospitals in Haliburton and Minden has been turned over to the board of St. Joseph's Hospital in Peterborough. The transfer became official last Wednesday, a year and a half after an agreement was reached to twin the hospitals with the Peterborough facility.

Negotiations leading to last Wednesday's transfer began several years ago, when the provincial Red Cross indicated that it wanted to relinquish responsibility for the 10 hospitals it operated in small communities.

The District Health council formed a committee to pave the way for the administrative change.

Red Cross branches in Haliburton and Minden will appoint representatives to the 25 member board of directors of St. Joseph's Hospital, increasing the board's size to 27 seats.

Ken Morley, chairman of the Haliburton branch, said Haliburton Hospital's representative is expected to be named at a meeting Tuesday night.

The transfer of administrative responsibilities is not expected to have any effect on the services provided by the hospital, or on the local Red Cross branches. Sickroom loan equipment such as crutches and walkers presently provided by the local Red Cross branches through the hospitals will continue to be available. As well, the branches will hold their meetings in the hospitals' board rooms, as they have in the past. A local office of the Red Cross Homemakers' Service will open in Haliburton this month, "so in point of fact, the Red Cross is expanding locally, not contracting," Morley commented.

He said he was pleased that the transfer has become official at last. "Now that it has happened, I think everybody is anxious to see it function well and be very successful."

"And we hope to see an expansion of the hospitals' facilities in the area."

In particular, he said, there is a need for chronic care and geriatric beds in the communities.

As a result of the transfer, doctors in Haliburton and Minden will have staff privileges at the St. Joseph's in Peterborough.

Minden riders raise big dollars

Mild weather may have kept some snowmobilers from participating in Minden's Snowarama ride for crippled children, but it didn't stop the event from raising more money than in 1983. Some 52 riders covered the 100 kilometre course on Saturday, raising $14,111 in cash

Police news

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a press release from the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police.

General Occurrences

During the period of January 30 to February 5, 1984, personnel at Minden detachment investigated the following occurrences: five motor vehicle accidents in which one person was injured; and 41 general occurrences, including four thefts and three damage occurrences.

Snowmobile Speed Limits

Members of the Minden detachment snowmobile patrol have charged several persons with exceeding the speed limit while driving their snow vehicles. It may be that not everyone is aware of the speed restrictions provided for under the Motorized Snow Vehicle Act of Ontario.

Section 13 of that act sets out the following regulation: No person shall drive a motorized snow vehicle on a highway at a greater rate of speed than 20 kilometres per hour where the posted limit is 50 km/h or less; or 50 kilometres per hour where the posted limit greater than 50 km/h.

In addition, all trails throughout the County have a maximum 50 km/h speed limit.

Snowmobile Incidents

Eight snowmobile drivers were charged with infractions this past week. In addition, there were several other snow vehicle related incidents. On January 30 a Haliburton youth found someone had kicked in the shroud of his '83 model snowmobile while it was parked behind some stores in the village. Not realizing the oil reservoir had been punctured as well, the machine was driven, causing the engine to seize up.

On February 4, a Moose Lake cottager returned to discover his '79 model snowmobile had been stolen from his cottage in Guilford Township. Tracks led onto the lake, then mingled with other tracks and were lost.

Also during the week a snowmobile collided with a truck on Mountain Street in Haliburton and a snowmobile struck a parked snowmobile near Dorset. There were no injuries nor charges in either one of the mishaps.

Injury Accident

On Friday, February 3, at 9:30 a.m., Linda Mumford, 31, of Harcourt, was driving on Hwy. 121 towards Haliburton down the Dover Spring hill. She lost control of her '76 Chrysler on the slush covered pavement and the car spun around, striking several guard rails. She was taken by ambulance to the Haliburton Hospital with major injuries.

Monmouth council

A regular meeting of Monmouth Township council was held February 1.

Council met at 6:30 p.m. as a Committee of a Whole with Gwen Kennedy, to discuss administrative problems with Welfare. The regular council meeting opened at 7:20 p.m., and the following matters were considered: Council will petition for supplementary subsidy in the amount of $13,000 for a two way dump box.

The following bills and accounts were ordered paid: General Voucher No. 1, $24,753.46; Welfare Payroll ton facility as their base of operations.

Haliburton is being considered because it is "a little more central" according to White.

Crews would be stationed there throughout the fire season, from early April until the end of September, but could be sent anywhere in the District, or the province, to fight forest fires. The Haliburton facility also will be used for training exercises.

While the impact on the community of the change is not expected to be a major one, it will result in more utilization of the Haliburton MNR facilities.

The Ministry of Natural Resources buildings on Head Lake in Haliburton will be busier this summer than they have been in the past as the base for district fire fighting operations is established in Haliburton. A total of 15 men and one supervisor will work out of the Haliburton location.

Dysart firemen respond to calls

Dysart et al firemen responded to two chimney fires in the past few days, and in both cases damage was slight.

On Sunday firemen were called to a chimney fire at the home of John Hilliard in West Guilford. Fire chief Howard Roberts said a prefabricated chimney connected to a wood burning appliance had overheated, and firemen had to dismantle it to extinguish the blaze. Flames were contained and damage was "minimal", the fire chief said.

On Monday night firemen responded to a chimney fire at the home of Ross Keefer in Haliburton. There was no damage to the home, Roberts said.

No serious fires have occurred in the municipality this winter despite the increased use of wood stoves and wood furnaces. Chief Roberts says the encouraging statistics may be the result of users' growing awareness of hazards and safety precautions. The local fire department has carried out scores of inspections over the last year, and many improper installations have been altered by owners to meet building code and insurance standards.

Low temperatures this winter may also be a factor in the marked reduction in wood stove related fires, since hotter fires produce less creosote than those which burn more slowly.

Stanhope set for new by-law

Stanhope Township has begun work on amendments to its comprehensive zoning by-law.

Council has hired the consulting firm of Totten, Sims, Hubicki to carry out the work, which is being financed by an $18,289 community planning study grant from the provincial Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing.

Reeve Harry Davis said Monday that the existing by-law, 77-15, is being updated because council has found "a lot of areas where it was too lax".

The process leading to a more effective zoning by-law is expected to take about a year, Davis said. Members of the public will have an opportunity to comment on proposed changes at two open meetings which will be advertised.

Proposed bill would ban use of leg hold traps

A member of the provincial legislature has submitted a private bill which, if passed, would ban the use of leg hold traps on all animals except fox, wolf and coyote, in which case a padded trap would be required.

Ed Philip, NDP member for Etobicoke, submitted Bill 154 to amend the Game and Fish Act on December 13, 1983.

Among the main provisions of the bill, are the following:

- The leg-hold trap will be banned for use on land, the situation in which "the most cruel suffering is imposed on animals", according to a press release on the subject.
- The leg-hold trap may still be used to trap only wolf, fox and coyote on land but the trap jaws must be padded or otherwise rendered more humane as designated by the Minister.

- Muskrats, accounting for approximately 60% of the 1,000,000 animals trapped in Ontario each year, would be required to be taken by either a quick-killing trap or by a drowning set as is now the case for beaver, otter and mink.

- All traps will be prohibited for use by all persons in Ontario other than licenced trappers, farmers trapping on their own property or inexperienced users who may use unrestricted humane traps designated by the Minister. At the present time, only body-gripping and leg-hold traps are regulated and the restrictions on use of traps do not apply north of the French River in central Ontario.
- Traps will be required to be inspected at least once each twenty-four hours south of the most northern C.N.R. line between Cochrane and Kenora, and at least once every seventy-two hours in zone 1 in Northern Ontario where trap lines are too long to inspect daily.

- Traps must be maintained in mechanically fit condition to avoid the cruelties arising from poor jaw contact, weak springs or inadequate striking or clamping forces.
- No person may possess or sell an operative trap other than a trapper, farmer, dealer or a collector.
- The owner must identify his trap by name or number.
- A trap exchange program may be established by the Minister, trading leg-hold traps and old Conibear traps for new, modified Conibear traps.

The bill has not yet been debated in the Legislature.

New regulations to govern off road vehicles

Ontario's Transportation and Communications Minister James Snow has established new regulations covering the operation of off-road vehicles.

An off-road vehicle is any two or three-wheeled vehicle, plus specific types with four or more wheels designed primarily for recreational use. Those licensed for on-road use or exempted by regulation are not included.

Exempted off-road vehicles include: golf carts; road-building machines and motorized wheelchairs. Off-road vehicles participating in rallies or exhibitions sponsored by a motorcycle club or association with a membership of 25 or more are exempt if used solely for such events.

All off-road vehicle owners must register their vehicles with MTC by June 1. Such vehicles cannot be registered to anyone under 16 years

Worth backing

Many Haliburton County residents will be interested to learn that Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis is proposing the establishment of a county-wide historical society, the first purpose of which would be to focus its efforts on the future of the Kanawa canoe museum. This facility, containing a priceless collection of canoes, kayaks and water craft from many parts of the world, is relatively little known, and appears to be wholly inadequate. A fascinating historical and cultural record, the collection is at present little more than a dusty jumble of vessels, with a few yellowing tags affixed here and there conveying very little information. The museum's owners cannot be faulted for the situation. It is simply a matter of money. Without sufficient government support, the collection will continue to languish unappreciated by all but the most knowledgeable, who would still have to travel to an isolated location and tread gingerly through the clutter in gloomy half light to view it.

If ever there was a project deserving of county wide support, the Kanawa museum is it. There is no doubt that in the proper setting, with an attractive presentation of information and the necessary support facilities, the Kanawa collection could become a major tourist attraction. But more than that, it could be a cultural treasure chest, a place where the arts of the past, now all but forgotten, would be displayed for all to view with wonder and humility.

If a county-wide historical society could act as a catalyst to make the best use of the collection and ensure its survival, then it should be formed and supported in every possible way. The canoe museum is a project on which the whole county should unite. And a historical society is a very large step in that direction. Local citizens should do what they can to make sure that the concept becomes a reality.

Lost jobs

There was some bad news for the local economy this week, and as usual, it stemmed from decisions made by politicians outside the boundaries of Haliburton County. Kin Arc, formerly known as Browndale, announced that it would close down five residential facilities for emotionally disturbed youngsters and transfer the service to Durham Region. The move comes as a result of pressure from the Ministry of Community and Social Services, and while it may have been made for the right reasons, the effect of the decision will be to deprive the local economy of 50 jobs. Staff who worked at the homes, most of which are based in Stanhope Township, have been consulted, and may have an opportunity to move to Durham Region. But their salaries no longer will be filtering through the local economy, and in anyone's frame of reference, that's a significant job loss in a county which can ill afford to lose employment opportunities.

Kin Arc has indicated that it will establish a non residential mental health service in the area in consultation with social services representatives and the Ministry. That, at least, is one positive result of the planned exodus.

Local politicians have no direct involvement in Kin Arc or the Ministry of Community and Social Services, and it appears that neither the county nor individual municipalities were consulted, or even informed, about the move. No doubt that will leave some municipal representatives smarting, as well it should. When you're about to pull the plug on 50 jobs, you should at least have the courtesy to keep municipal representatives informed about what's going on in their own townships.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

As the unwitting victims of today's "headlines only" news on radio and television, increasingly, when it comes to the printed word, we tend to skim over it, often ignoring the paragraphs of details actually comprising a news story.

Small wonder then that my response to the Haliburton County Library's 1983 financial report as carried in the press recently was apparently misunderstood by a number of readers, apparently TV/radio oriented. The salient fact?...Specifically my concern with the report was the expenditure last year of $23,000 for new books when the amount or budget actually allocated for that purpose was not $23,000 but $15,000! Let's face it, a budget overrun on a controllable expenditure should not and must not be lightly dismissed as just "a few dollars".

As a responsible member of Haliburton County Council and, especially, as its management chairman I would be grossly remiss in my duty if I failed to question this rather obvious discrepancy. If that be "nitpicking" then I happily admit to it and will continue my zeal for economy. I believe this to be in the best interest of most taxpayers.

To The Editor:

From time to time all newspapers slip up. It's nothing sinister I'm sure, just a word here, a phrase there, here an innuendo, there an emphasis that in fact never occurred. Mistakes do happen, and of a number of reasons we all can overlook them. On the positive side, more than once misquotes have been a benefit to me when a local editor or type-setter graciously doctored a spelling error in my writing or a clumsy bit of grammar in my speech that resulted in a definite improvement when reported in print. More often than not the overall thrust of a story is never threatened by minor flaws, and when it comes to political reporting it is never too difficult to feel compassion for the recording journalists at AHM council meetings. Especially the late evening sessions. Having just completed a regular day of business, the local word-processors must suffer tortuous overtime as sole public witnesses to a race for midnight between a motion of adjournment and their slipping consciousness. All the while they must exhibit skills of cipher and lip-reading in order to break through the tomb-like acoustics of our chambers that are further aggravated by a huddling of council whispering to each other around and through furry moustaches, pencil tips, cigarettes, assorted lozenges, and ever receding fingernails.

However, there are times when a flaw as small as one misplaced word DOES make a difference. A case in point may be found in last week's Echo reporting an editorial opinion of my "proposal to instruct reeve Lyle McKnight and deputy reeve Ed Pergolas on how to vote" at County council. The operative word of course is "instruct", and such a word never passed these lips in describing my motion, nor are they recorded in the Clerk's notes, or the Times' report of the subject. As a matter of fact those present may recall that I prefaced my remarks by saying that I was going to skirt the issue of "free votes" and instead present a motion in support of a request by the Agnes Jamieson Gallery for funds from the County, and to ask our County representatives for their greatest consideration of voting against any allotment of funds to the Ralls' End Gallery without similar treatment being shown for the like facility in Minden. Now such a motion may be many things, lobbying perhaps, pressure politics perhaps, but an "instruction" to the reeve and deputy reeve it definitely is not. Such a motion is consistent, I believe, with the responsibilities of an AHM councillor acting as an appointed municipal representative for the Agnes Jamieson Gallery (which I am) and consistent with the notable services offered by a facility that is proud to bear the name of one of this county's most illustrious citizen's (while serving the medical needs of the Highlands through the 1930's, 40's and 50's Dr. Jamieson became Ontario's first female coroner).

My motion will be tabled on February 9 to see if in fact it will be seconded and open for discussion prior to vote. There has been no backroom lobbying for support; the prior notice of the motion at last meeting was offered to allow members a chance to think about it and is a common procedure for me to keep issues open and available for public scrutiny. As it stands though, the real subject of that motion has been clouded for a week by a "motherhood" issue of free voting privileges for the reeve and deputy reeve. The serious nature of the exchange (the

One has to wonder what the Highlands of Haliburton has to do to get their name mentioned on radio, television or in the big city dailies. It seems that the other resort areas always get honourable mention but when it comes to the Highlands of Haliburton it would seem that we are avoided like the plague. It seems that a large percentage of the people who live in Toronto, for instance, have never heard of the Highlands. Many people down there think that Haliburton and Minden are out around Kitimat, B.C. What brought this subject on as far as I am concerned was a recent write up that appeared in the Toronto Star under the heading "Post-Season Survival" or having fun after the Super Bowl. The question that was being asked, 'Is there life after the Super Bowl?' I went along with most of the article, thinking that it was full of good old time humour until I came to a paragraph near the end that went something like this. Got that rugged, outdoors feeling - then it might be time to try ice fishing. You can do it on Lake Simcoe where you get all modern conveniences from cozy fishing huts complete with bunk beds. The article went on to say that if you're interested in catching fish, there are other lakes in the Muskokas and Kawarthas where you're likely to bring home something more than a hangover. So there you have it, not even a mention of the most beautiful resort area in my opinion in Ontario and that's the Highlands of Haliburton. Money is being spent by the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations to advertise that we are really here but you sometimes wonder if it is falling on deaf ears. And there's always the other possibility that we are not spending enough money in this area and at times the Chamber of Commerce just doesn't seem to have the money that is needed to do a first rate job.

The County Auto Repair and Radiator Service, which for the past two or three years has been located behind what was known as Western Tire on Highland Street, have moved to their brand new building on the dump road next to Madill Plumbing and Heating. I had an opportunity to be shown around the new cement block building and I came away very impressed with the new facilities. The business in its new building, which is 30 feet by 50 feet, has three bays and two hoists and these added features will help speed up the service. The grand opening for the new building will be set for a later date. We wish to take this opportunity to wish the owners Rich Howe and Bob Bird the best of luck in their new location.

In the second section of this issue of the Haliburton County Echo you will notice all the up to the minute news and views on what will be going on at the 1984 Haliburton Winter Carnival. Our thanks also go out to the business places who have placed advertisements and by doing so have made this winter carnival section possible. We hope you enjoy it and will read it from cover to cover. The big event is coming up on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 17, 18 and 19. In this special section of the Echo is everything that you have always wanted to know about the carnival but were afraid to ask. This special issue, as you will notice, is going out a week and a half in advance of the carnival dates. This gives not only the local citizens but those who live in other communities outside of Haliburton County the opportunity of viewing the program well in advance of the big event. This year's carnival chairman, Dale Robinson, has assured us that there will be many new events this year with plenty of fun and excitement for everyone who will be attending. The carnival will be a great success is everyone participates.

Congratulations are in order to the Rotary Club of Haliburton who can be quite proud of the successful Snowarama they staged at the Haliburton Forest and Wildlife Reserve Limited on Saturday, January 28. 100 riders came in with well over $12,000 in pledges. A good job, well done.

When I dropped into Mike's Milk in Haliburton the other day Mike informed me that Clarence Howe, who resides at Haliburton Lake, was a recent winner of the Mystery Bonus Draw in connection with Wintario. The prize was a 1984 car.

Hockey fans in Haliburton County were tuned in to the N.H.L. All Star game played in New Jersey on Tuesday evening, January 31. Interest in this sports classic was of local interest as Bernie Nicholls of West Guilford was playing in his first All Star game. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Nicholls, flew down for the game. Mrs. Nicholls told me two days before the game that it would be quite an exciting experience for her as it was the first time that she had ever been up in a plane.

Just recently I received a short note from Ken and Peggy Whitney of West Guilford who are vacationing in the sunny south. They told me in the note that they were browsing through the daily paper and came across some tidbits of information that they enclosed in the envelope which I will possibly use in my column from time to time. They said that they had just had an early morning dip in the ocean and that the surf temperature was 71 degrees, that's Fahrenheit! They told me they were going over to the Gulf side to visit Ken and Ruth Sawyer later in February.

Pic of the Past

Many of our readers will certainly recognize the gentleman in this week's Pic of the Past. He is the late Walter Wilkinson, a man who was well known in this area, having owned and operated many local businesses in Haliburton during his lifetime. Mr. Wilkinson served with the Canadian Army in the First World War and after it was over he opened up a second hand furniture store in the area where Elstone Motor Sales Limited is now located. In the year 1934 he built Royal View Lodge and operated this tourist business for many years and later sold it to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Carnegie, who are still operating Royal View. In the above photo Walter is shown rolling dough in the kitchen at Royal View Lodge. Our thanks to Harvey Fearrey of R.R. 2, Haliburton for giving us permission to use this photo.

Options For Living -- Part II

The 181 municipal and charitable homes for the aged operating in 1980 had a total bed capacity of 27,968. Total provincial expenditures reached $102 million, $25 million for municipal and charitable homes respectively. Theoretically, homes for the aged were intended to provide residential and extended care living arrangements, but they often find themselves addressing the needs of residents for four hours of care and beyond. Funding remains fixed for extended care at $39 per day regardless.

Inadequate funding perhaps most directly affects charitable homes for the aged administered by such non-profit groups as ethnic organizations, service clubs and church groups. Charitable homes comprise 94 of the 192 homes for the aged in Ontario. These homes often over-extend their financial resources to continue caring for the elderly from their own spiritual and cultural communities. They receive no provincial deficit funding. (Municipal homes administered by community boards receive provincial deficit funding up to 70 percent with the municipal contribution 30 percent.)

Options in Community Living: Does the clamour for institutional beds represent a desire to live in an institutional setting? While 30 percent of the elderly over age 85 will need institutional care, it can be assumed that the vast majority of the "young" and "middle" years elderly would choose living supports within a community setting until such time as institutional care is needed. What options are available?

A program in the Ottawa region presents a picture of options necessary to keep the elderly out of institutional settings as long as possible, and is based on a home support program saving taxpayers a lot of money. An expenditure of $2.5 million annually would, it's been calculated, save $18.8 million a year for new hospital beds six years from now. Confirming Queen's University longitudinal studies regarding chronic home care, the Ottawa finding is that a home care program delays admission to a nursing home by eighteen months to two years. The Ottawa comprehensive model also has the following elements: 1) mobile teams of medical practitioners to serve rural areas; 2) four consulting geriatric specialists to work with area physicians and the mobile teams; 3) four hospital units where the elderly can go during the day while living at home; and 4) six beds in chronic care hospitals for "respite care".

Without funds to make the program workable, Ottawa will need 800 more chronic care and nursing home beds by 1990, costing $30 million per year. Spending $2.5 million on the program provides options for Ottawa's elderly which are economical and humane.

"Identity Crisis"

Last week's Times editorial, "Identity Crisis", was concerned with the Ministry of Industry and Trades publication, Ontario Business News which contained an article about Len and Roger Creelman's amphibian airplane, the Seawind. To quote from M.I.T. article "Seawind International located in the town of Haliburton in Ontario's lake-studded Muskoka vacation area".

It might be of interest to know that the MIT office at 900 Bay Street (albeit another floor) received over 1000 pieces of literature from the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce.

Report from Parliament

By Bill Scott M.P.

Over the past couple of months in my role as Deputy Critic for National Revenue, I have received copies of numerous cases of complaints by taxpayers to that Department.

Before Christmas, some of my colleagues and I did meet with the Deputy Minister of National Revenue, Taxation. He and his officials provided us with a briefing on his department for which we thanked him. Included in that briefing was a table entitled, "Growth in person-years compared to growth in workload". The most significant figures in the table, to my mind, show that between 1977-78 and 1982-83 the number of notices of objection rose 102%, the number of inquiries rose 55% and the number of taxpayer requested adjustments rose 61%. These figures show that there is no doubt about the increasing difficulty taxpayers are finding in filling out their returns. This prompted me to ask what percentage of taxpayers require help from accountants, tax discounters, etc. in filling out their forms. The Deputy answered that their surveys show that this figure now is about 54%. He also stated that their forms are the simplest of any country in the world. When over half of us need assistance in income tax filing it is not good enough to be the best in the world. We must do better.

Every day in Question Period our M.P.'s have brought forward individual cases of bullying, badgering and threatening by collectors of the Department of National Revenue. It is obvious from the many letters that all of us have received that the rule of the tax investigator is now "guilty unless proven innocent" and the taxpayer is given no assistance at all to prove innocence. It is one thing to pursue and harass someone who owes thousands of dollars in taxes and can afford to pay it. It is quite another to have Revenue Canada forcing farmers off their homestead farms just because they find it necessary to also work off their farms. It is also astonishing to hear of huge penalties assessed to taxpayers due to accounts overdue as a result of employer or Revenue Canada errors.

Revenue Canada must be held accountable for its operating procedures. No longer must they be allowed to produce films seemingly designed to scare taxpayers into compliance. They must be made to realize that they are working for the taxpayers and not against them.

editorial's use of "instruct" rather than the actual quote "consider" is twofold. First there is a general tendency for the public to accord authenticity to the 'printed word', especially (and this is the second and most important point) when it is printed by the agency the public (certainly in the Highlands at least) has come to recognize and rely upon as their principal witness to the workings of local government...namely the newspapers. Not more than one tenth of council meetings are attended by any other persons in AHM other than the local reporters. Their reporting, and more importantly their editorializing (which is a legitimate and valuable source of dialogue) must reflect the actual word and phrase used if the trust they hold with the public is not to be strained. Thankfully this has largely been the case in our county, and I hope this letter will clarify an instance of editorial opinion that unfortunately must relinquish the dramatic punch of an "eroding influence" from Blairhampton.

P.S.... The irony of it all is that I introduced (in March of 1983 when Martin Biefer was standing in as Echo editor) the question of within what "limited number of issues" (Mr. Pizze's phrase) County council representatives' votes should portray a municipal council position. I was a very noticeable minority of one that even wanted to discuss such a sensitive (?) issue. Perhaps the occasion will arise once more in discussions of our new Procedural By-Law. I hope.

To The Editor:

I recently opened a fortune cookie that quoted an old Chinese proverb - "Say little, and write less". After twenty years of writing and publishing seven of my own books, I think it is a little late to close the barn door. I recently made a brief appearance on the Fifth Estate as part of a documentary on the philosophy and practise of Allan Davidson, a rural psychiatrist. One of the hazards of speaking to the media is that they are free to edit the material in any manner that they see fit. By skillful editing it is possible to give quite an erroneous impression.

The program quoted me accurately as saying that I had been cut off general welfare assistance by the Municipality of Dysart et al, and that their decision was upheld by the Ontario Appeal Board. The program accurately quoted me as saying that this was when I was forced to seek Dr. Davidson's advice and with his assistance achieved a provincial disability pension. The program then quoted a prominent Haliburton businessman as saying I should get a job logging in the bush. The editing managed to convey that (a) I was a welfare bum, (b) that I was ungrateful for the assistance that the Municipality of Dysart had given me, and (c) that I was on bad terms with my neighbours.

I don't think anything could be further from the truth. First of all the program neglected to mention that I was an experienced, even if destitute, writer. I think there are many ways to serve the community and that a well paying job in the private sector is only one of them. I would also like to point out that you wouldn't expect an unemployed logger to become a dentist, nor would you go to him to have a tooth pulled even if it meant a lower tax rate. Secondly the editing left out the fact that I was indeed extremely grateful for the assistance that the Municipality of Dysart et al had given me. The Unemployment Insurance Act is a temporary measure to aid those unemployed. It is administered by the Federal government. General welfare assistance is administered by the municipality. It is meant to give temporary economic relief to those whose unemployment benefits have run out or those who are temporarily unable to find employment. The Federal government pays 50% of the costs, the Provincial government pays 30% of the costs, and the municipality pays 20% of the costs. The Family Benefit Act is administered by the province and is jointly funded by the Federal and Provincial government.

I believe I mentioned in the unedited tapes that I had no personal resentment against the council of Dysart et al for terminating my general welfare assistance. Indeed I believe that it was an economic necessity. I pointed out that the municipality is responsible for 20% of general welfare costs and these funds are raised from necessity from property tax. I praised the residents of Haliburton for their rugged individualism and their generosity. I also pointed out that Haliburton lacks an industrial tax base and has a high unemployment rate particularly in the winter months when tourism is reduced. I believe that although the present cost sharing formula for general welfare assistance is perhaps acceptable in industrial cities such as Toronto and Hamilton, it places an unfair burden on property owners in rural areas such as Haliburton. My intention was not to embarrass the municipal government but to put forward a logical explanation for increased provincial assistance.

Thirdly, the tape left the impression that I was on bad terms with my neighbours. I would strenuously deny this. Although I have only lived in Haliburton for three years and know only a limited number of residents, I like almost everyone I meet and would hope that we have mutual friendship and respect for each other. I confess to being a bit of a weirdo, and I suppose that a lot of my opinions could be regarded as anti-establishment. In a democracy such as ours, we offer legal aid lawyers or duty counsel to those who cannot afford to defend themselves. The purpose of a defense lawyer is to oppose the prosecution. We also have a provincial ombudsman. His purpose is to challenge the political bureaucracy to present the grievances of the common citizen. We also have a multi-party system of government and the purpose of "Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition" is to oppose the governing party, not agree with it.

If speaking out on behalf of the disadvantaged is being anti-establishment, then I can't apologize. The well to do businessman is quite capable of lobbying on his own. I am however, quite cognizant of the fact that to speak your mind publicly is to put yourself at the mercy of the media and that skillful editing can misrepresent your position. Therefore I would like to publicly apologize to any resident of Haliburton who feels my comments on The Fifth Estate were prejudi-

Atoms eliminate Powassan

Haliburton's OMHA Atom hockey team continued their winning ways over the weekend. On Saturday they skated to the consolation championship of a one day tournament in Beaverton, and on Sunday they trounced Powassan 7-0 to win their Ontario playdown series two games to none. The boys will meet Fenelon Falls in the next round of the playoffs.

In the Beaverton tournament, Haliburton faced Fenelon in the first game, and it proved to be a tough one, as the local boys dropped a 3-2 decision. Jason Billings opened the scoring for Haliburton in the second period, assisted by Jamie Hunter and Chris Greenfield. In the third period, Hunter got one from Reid Elstone and Jason Casey.

The score was tied at two apiece as the clock wound down, but with about a minute left to play, Fenelon got the go ahead goal to earn a 3-2 victory. Game two pitted the local boys against Little Britain, and this time they had no trouble staying in the lead. Scoring in the first period

Brohman gets hat trick as Emmerson Lumber skates to a 10-5 win

Emmerson Lumber had an easy time of it on Monday night in the men's recreational hockey league, outscoring Bishop and Wilson 10-5, but in the night's other game, league leading Haliburton Lumber had to settle for a tie with third place Curry Motors.

Gary Brohman opened the scoring for Emmerson Lumber at 6:46 of the first period. Two minutes later Larry Wilford tallied for Bishop and Wilson to even the score. Then, at 10:01, Bob Woodcock put the surveyors into the lead.

The advantage didn't last long however. With 7:19 left to play in the period, Brian Mulholland connected for Emmerson Lumber to tie the game at two.

Bishop and Wilson players refused to be counted out early, despite their underdog position in the league standings, and with 5:20 remaining, Jim Winn beat Kevin Finch in the Lumber net to put the surveyors out in front 3-2.

The advantage lasted until shortly after the five minute mark of the second period, when Dean Curry tied the match once more. Bishop and Wilson were kept out of scoring range throughout the period, but could not hold off the Emmerson attack. At 11:40 of the period, Gary Brohman got his second of the night to put the Lumber team out in front, 4-3.

In the third period Emmerson Lumber began to build up a comfortable margin, needing only 11 seconds for Mark Schell to make it 5-3. Forty one seconds later, Gary Brohman scored again to complete a hat trick, moving the Lumber team out in front 6-3.

A minute and 32 seconds into the final period, Kim Emmerson found the mesh behind surveyor netminder Steve Kirkpatrick, and it was 7-3.

But Bishop and Wilson continued to work hard, and it paid off with a goal at 7:39 of the period, Paul Howe scoring unassisted.

Emmerson attackers were too potent however, and in the subsequent five minutes of play they added three more goals for an even 10 on the night. Scoring were Joe Roberts, Dean Curry, and Kim Emmerson with his second.

With 54 seconds remaining, Greg Bishop added another one for Bishop and Wilson to leave them trailing by five goals at the end of the match.

The second game of the night turned out to be a more even contest. In fact, momentum switched back and forth between Haliburton Lumber and Curry Motors at several points in the game.

The one-time registration fee is $25. On registration, owners will be supplied with a vehicle permit to be carried by the driver at all times.

Licence plates for such vehicles went on sale February 1 and can be obtained at any motor vehicle licensing office.

For two and three-wheeled vehicles, the licence plate is to be mounted on the front of the vehicle, in plain view, facing forward. The plate is to be mounted on the rear of four or more wheeled vehicles.

The new regulations also specify that as of February 1, drivers, passengers and riders on a conveyance towed by an off-road vehicle must wear regulation helmets. Helmets are not required when operating on land owned or occupied by the vehicle owner.

In addition, as of August 1, 1984, vehicle liability insurance will be required for all off-road vehicles driven anywhere other than on land owned or occupied by the vehicle owner. Proof of insurance must be carried by the driver.

Any collision resulting in personal injury or damage to property apparently exceeding $400, must be reported to the police.

Persons under 12 are not permitted to drive an off-road vehicle except on land owned or occupied by the vehicle owner.

The vehicles may be driven directly across selected highways only if the driver has a valid driver's licence.

Vehicles with three or more wheels may be driven along a highway by a farmer when used for a farming operation if in possession of a valid driver's licence. Off-road vehicles cannot be driven along a highway in any other circumstances.

As well, the owner of the vehicle, and/or the driver, is responsible for violations of the Off-Road Vehicles Act and is liable for any loss or damage to property caused.

Local curler defeats Silver Broom winner

When you're an avid curler, winning is always a satisfying experience, but when the rink you beat happen to be the reigning world champions, victory takes on a whole new meaning. And that's precisely what happened to Haliburton curler Bob Colliver on Sunday. Skipping a rink in the Kawartha Masters Spiel, he won his first games 5-4 and 4-3, then faced Air Canada Silver Broom champion Ed Werénich, out of Toronto's Avonlea club, in the semi final.

Colliver's rink, including Bobcaygeon curlers Morris Anderson, Wayne Shea, and John Anderson, opened strongly and outshot the world champions to win 10-7.

"It was quite a thrill" Colliver said, knowing that for one day at least, you curled well enough to beat the best rink in the world.

In the final, the Colliver foursome faced Bob Turcotte's Oshawa rink, who are involved in playdowns leading to the Canadian championship, and once again the Haliburton curler skipped his rink to a win, defeating Turcotte 6-4. The victory meant first place, and a cash prize of $1300.

It was the 18th year that Bob Colliver has entered a rink in the Kawartha Masters, and although he says he intends to continue playing in the spiel, the 1984 Masters just may be the one he'll remember most.

for Haliburton were Jamie Hunter, Chad Bain and Greg Brohman, with assists going to Elstone, Derek Wilson, and Billings.

In the second period Jason Billings exploded for three goals, aided by Wade Wood and Russell Morrison.

Hans Fluegel played strongly in the net to ensure the 6-3 win.

The team was led by Jason Billings, who pumped in five goals, while Wade Wood was also strong in the scoring department, with two goals. Assists were chalked up by Greenfield, Hunter, Bain and Wilson.

Minden Juveniles face tough challenge in series

By SHIRLEY WALKER

Minden Juveniles are involved in a best four out of seven playoff with Powassan. In the first game in Powassan on Saturday, February 4, Minden lost 12-2.

Scoring for Minden were: John McKelvey unassisted and Jeff Stamp from Daryl Ward.

It was not a very good night for Minden. Players were continually harassed by Powassan fans. Manager Dick Schell attempted to have the officials clear the area of the Minden players' bench but his efforts were rewarded with a game suspension for himself. Two Minden players were also given game misconducts - Eldon Bull and Bill Whittaker. Since the team recorded 39 minutes in penalties that meant that coach Carl Hie would have to sit out the next game.

The second game was played in Minden on Sunday, February 5, Minden winning 7-6.

Scoring for Minden were: Doug Schell from Kevin Hamilton and Bill Whittaker; John McKelvey from Scot Hamilton; Jim McKelvey from Jeff Stamp; Scot Hamilton from Jeff Stamp; Bill Whittaker from Kevin Hamilton; Scot Hamilton from John McKelvey and Jeff Stamp; and Doug Schell from Kevin Hamilton and Bill Whittaker.

Kevin Smith recorded the win in goal for Minden.

On Sunday Minden played without coach Carl Hie, manager Dick Schell and player Eldon Bull. This left the coaching duties to Eldon Bull Sr. and Shirley Hie.

Upcoming Games:

Fri. Feb. 10, 7:00 Minden Atoms at Little Britain (first game of home and home playoff series with five centres)

9:00 Powassan Juveniles at Minden (third game of best of seven)

Summer Canada '84 Let's put tomorrow's work force on the job today.

Everyone knows that summer jobs give students a chance to earn money to continue their education. But that's just part of the story. Summer employment is also the best way to get the kind of experience that makes it easier to eventually find a full-time job. Employers who hire students help to develop skills that will benefit them in the future.

The Government of Canada will assist sponsors of Summer Canada Works projects with a contribution towards student wages and job-related overhead costs.

YOU CAN HELP TO CREATE JOBS FOR STUDENTS THROUGH SUMMER CANADA WORKS PROJECTS
Summer Canada Works projects provide productive employment for local students. Projects should employ at least three local students and should produce goods or services to benefit the community. All jobs must be full-time and must last between six and 18 consecutive weeks during the summer.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE FOR FUNDING?

Community and volunteer groups, professional and technical associations, most local governments and private sector employers are eligible for Summer Canada Works funding.

HOW TO APPLY

If your organization has an idea for a Summer Canada Works project, contact the nearest Canada Employment Centre or Employment Development Branch office of Employment and Immigration Canada for information and application forms. APPLICATION DEADLINE IS FEBRUARY 24, 1984.

Staff at the Canada Employment Centre can also give you more information about other Summer Canada programs and services. These include:

- SUMMER CAREER ACCESS a student wage subsidy program
- CANADA EMPLOYMENT CENTRES FOR STUDENTS a summer job placement service
- RCMP and DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL DEFENCE student employment programs

SEEDS IN THE SNOW

I firmly believe everyone should get a seed catalogue. Even if they never plant a garden. What better way could there be to lift your spirits from the depths of the winter blahs? Just leafing through the seed catalogue is proof that spring is sure to come. At least the seed company is counting on it.

One can look out their window at the snow laden yard and visualize rows of beans, and peas, and corn. Or gaze fondly where they know lies a rock garden beneath the snow, and picture clusters of tulips and crocuses, or alyssum and verbenas. I imagine black-eyed susans myself. They're my favourite flower.

Anyhow, yesterday, I decided it was high time to make out the seed order. I was very wise, of course. I never opened the catalogue until I checked what seeds I had on hand and listed what I did and did not need. Very methodical, I thought at the time. I wasn't going to go overboard on the seeds this year. I even bragged to the hubby as to how many seeds I had left, and wasn't going to have to buy many at all.

Then I opened the catalogue. First, came beans. (I already have asparagus and artichokes). I sure wasn't going to plant many beans. We still have enough green and wax beans in the freezer to feed all of West Guilford. And yet, I should buy at least one packet. You never know. And don't those purple royalty beans look interesting? I really also ought to plant some navy beans. And I want some more of those lovely limas. Thus -- three packets of beans. One 250g. pkg. limas.

Beets was another bumper crop last year, but I'd better buy at least one packet. Everyone loves pickled beets. And if I don't know what to do with them, I can always give them to my future daughter-in-law. One packet beets.

Now the broccoli and cauliflower didn't do so well here last year. I hardly got to freeze any at all. One of each.

Gee, Chinese pak choi! That's that groovy stuff they use on "Wok with Yan". It says it has excellent cold weather tolerance. I like wokking. Let's try it. One packet pak choi.

Next comes carrots. Granted, we grew a ton of them last year. There's still over a bushel in the cold room. In fact, there's still two rows in the ground. But we'd better plant some. One 25g. pkg. carrots.

I was going to plant celery last year, and didn't. It's now $1.59 in the stores. One packet celery.

You do get my drift. There were huckleberries, romaine, twice the peas, a try at potato seeds, etc. Finally, I saw a picture of the flowering kale they had in the flower boxes in town last summer. One packet flowering kale. Total cost, $19.30. I was dumbfounded! It can't be! I don't need much! I've got radishes, cukes, squash, turnips, parsnips, etc., etc., etc. How am I going to convince Ed to expand the garden AGAIN?

Then Dave, my son, came home from work, asking "What's for supper?" And I knew what had happened. Take my word for it. Like grocery shopping, one should never order seeds on an empty stomach.

Paul Dovell, Herbert Woodcox and Tammy Dovell took advantage of the mild weather on Saturday to take part in a fish derby in Gooderham. The fish weren't biting for these three anglers, but they were having fun anyway.

Senior League

By BERT HARRISON
Well readers, the Kinsmen Winter Carnival is over for another year and the residents of Hyland Crest have cause to cheer. Our float entry won first prize, and a trophy too. We say to our maintenance men a big thank you and three cheers. Their entry was a symbol of the early pioneers.

In the chapel service Sunday night, the Thompsons were not there. Ruth was to play the music, but there was no one to take her place, so we all joined in to help John Henry sing Amazing Grace. Rev. Burgess took his talk from Romans Chapter eight, 'For as many as were led by the spirit, became the sons of God.'

Movies Monday night were "Partridge Terrain" and "Nature's Pattern". There were lovely scenes. Tuesday morning Rev. John James of Haliburton United Church came to Hyland Crest, to take the chapel service and was our special guest. He told us different things to do when we become depressed. Fred Ballard came, the music to play. We thank them both for coming this last January day.

Guess who came for entertainment here Tuesday night, an all-male quartet. They sang and played so lovely, we imagine we can hear them yet. Mervin Redner, Gordon Houston, and Bill Dennison from town, played guitars, and Norm Graham from Gooderham was on the fiddle, and could he ever play the 'old banjo'. We really enjoyed their music and would like to tell them so.

Wednesday morning down at Fun and Fitness, Chris Precor won the ramp game for all to witness. We would like to say a big thank you to Lorne Coburn, who is retiring from the 'Tuck Shop' duty this Friday, after serving so faithfully for eight years by the way, looking after all supplies and the residents' needs. We will miss you, Lorne, we will indeed.

Eileen Bleas is taking over, with the help of Mrs. Durant and Eileen's husband Stan. Anything the ladies can't do perhaps Stanley can.

Down at Fun and Fitness Gladys Kirkpatrick wasn't so slow; she won the horseshoe pitching twice in a row.

We are sorry to report that Lola Prentice and Marjorie Shyler are both in hospital.

The UCW ladies from Ingoldsby served a tasty lunch this Thursday. We also had a party for Mrs. Lee whose ninety-fourth birthday was today. We had violin players, who could really play, with Doris playing the piano to make the music complete, wearing the golden slippers to walk the golden feet.

What about this winter weather? I guess we shouldn't complain. One day it's 30 below the next day it starts to rain.

Guild News

Did you know that the committee for the Concert Series of the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts was considering the possibility of folding? It seems they are having trouble selling enough tickets to pay their bills.

Now, we can't let that happen. The committee works very hard to bring a wide variety of musical experiences to this community on a limited budget. There was a great deal of discussion about the ways and means of preserving the series at the last Guild meeting. It was felt that a good many people were unaware of the concerts. And that perhaps others didn't realize the variety of music presented.

Take, for instance, the Tanglefoot concert on March 21. "A banjo, mandolin and fiddle unite with musicians, actors and writers to bring you songs, stories and images of early Canada. On centre stage are three performers in period costume flanked by nine-by-twelve screens displaying early Canadian paintings and photographs. You'll enjoy this musical integration of Canada's television and theatre backgrounds." Tickets are available at the Rails' End Gallery, or through Marilyn Stouffer and other Guild members.

The Best of Members showing at the Rails' End Gallery closes Saturday, February 11. You've just got time to sneak a peak.

There is to be a quilting workshop given by Judith Tinkle at the Minden Cultural Centre, on February 14 and 15. For information call Susan Little at Sir Sandford Fleming College, 457-1680.

February is going to be a busy month at the Guild. They have all sorts of activities lined up that are guaranteed to chase away the winter blahs. So keep your eyes open and don't miss the fun.

The Canadian Red Cross Society (Minden Branch) sponsors a program known as "Vials of Life" and Home Support Volunteers are assisting in the distribution of these vials.

What is it? The "Vial of Life" program provides life-saving information in your home or car in case of a sudden illness or accident.

It's for everyone, especially for those living alone, parents who leave their children at home with baby-sitters and non-English speaking immigrants. We want every senior in Haliburton County to have at least one of these "Vials of Life" even if you do wear a medic alert bracelet.

How does it work? It's simple! You fill out the form regarding the name of your doctor, medical insurance number and medications, allergies, etc. This information

THE HALIBURTON COUNTY ECHO AND MINDEN RECORDER

Kinmount Korner

By MILLIE MOSS

Happy birthday (though belated) to Tony Gascho of Fenelon Falls who turned four on Saturday, January 28. Tony is a grandson of George and Mary Cowen of Norland.

I was sorry to hear that as of Saturday, January 28 Sam Telford was once again in hospital in Peterborough.

I hope Mary O'Toole and Verna Crego are feeling better by now too.

I sure do hope "Minnie" is feeling much better very soon, following her recent surgery.

Congratulations to Bruce Cowden of Nogies Creek who was the lucky winner of $190 on the 57th number at the Kinmount Legion bingo Friday, January 27.

The winner of $22.75 in the Legion 50/50 draw, Saturday, January 28 was ta-daah, me.

Joan and Harold Mills of Pickering were weekend visitors at the home of Bill and Win Wilson at RR 1, Kinmount.

Amy Coker of Utterson, Stephen and Helen Coker along with their young daughters, Heather and Christina, all of Huntsville, were visitors last week of Mary and John Pyke in Norland.

Libby Moore and her family were all down with flu in the past week or two and I hope all will be back to good health very soon.

Bill and Jason Moss spent the past weekend in Toronto.

Here's another quick goodie to make up for lunches or your coffee break. "Baby Marshmallows": 1 package semi-sweet chocolate chips, 1 package miniature coloured marshmallows, 1/2 tin sweetened milk. Method: Put milk in saucepan and heat. Add chocolate chips and stir until melted. Let cool, then add marshmallows. Put in square 8"x8" pan, cut into squares and roll in coconut. It's very easy and very tasty.

My column is short this week so for you ladies who were asking for my recipes, here's another quick one called "Quick Cookies": Spread graham wafers in an 8"x8" pan. Mix together 1/2 tin sweetened milk, 1 1/2 cups coconut. Spread over wafers. Melt a 6 oz. package of semi sweet chocolate chips, spread over top and chill.

I guess our old fairgrounds were busy this weekend with the carnival. I hope I'll have more to tell you about that next week.

I'm told that Lil Platt has been on the sick list as of late. Get well soon Lil, you're missed around town.

Jim Hill also has been sick with flu last week along with his little son John. This weather is enough to make anyone sick but hang in there folks, it won't be long 'til spring. I've been suffering what I think may be muscular rheumatism for a couple of weeks now and I'm telling you it is definitely not pleasant. I was in a draught from an open car window and have been paying for it ever since. Damp weather sure doesn't help either.

I attended a meeting of our Avon reps at the Haliburton Legion last week. A bus trip is planned in May to the Montreal plant for a tour of the premises and a day or two "on the town".

Well folks, if you want a column, better let me know what's going on. Give me a call at 488-2353. Stay well and happy and keep on reading the Echo.

Wilberforce News

Members of the Full Gospel Church will now be holding their Sunday services at the Wilberforce Elementary School. Sunday school takes place at 10 a.m. and morning church service at 11:30 a.m. A cordial welcome is extended to all those wishing to attend.

On Monday evening at their weekly meeting, the girl guides were introduced to a special guest, Marie Bjorn. Marie is from Denmark and is on a student exchange program. She is presently living in Haliburton.

Marie had come to tell the guides about her beloved homeland. She began by showing some beautiful colour slides of the Danish countryside. In a lively fashion she pointed out such things as the many red roofs of the houses, the marketplace in Copenhagen, some very old churches, high, rocky mountains surrounded by blue waters and sandy beaches, many stately castles, one of which was the famous castle at Elsinore, scene of Shakespeare's "Hamlet". Mention was made of Hans Christian Andersen, Danish writer, known world wide as a writer of children's tales.

Later, during a question and answer period, Marie was kept busy explaining customs, habits, type of clothing worn and many other interesting facts. It was learned that at Christmas time fresh trees are decorated with lighted candles, evidently with no mishaps. Christmas celebration begins in the evening with members of the family dancing and singing around the tree.

The guides were amazed to hear that peanut butter is not known in Denmark and that a chocolate spread is used instead. It seems that everyone wears jeans from the college teachers to the bank president. Travel between Scandinavian countries is similar to that of Canada and the United States, no passports being required. The girl guides greatly enjoyed this exchange of ideas and Denmark is one country they will always remember.

Just about now the housewife begins to feel the old urge to spring clean and get rid of all those odds and ends that have accumulated during the past year and are cluttering up the house. When you have gathered up all the things you want to dispose of, think of your library. They are in need of articles for their flea market table. The maple syrup festival takes place in April. Your librarian, Bessie Croft, will be happy to receive your unwanted treasures. Telephone 448-2973.

A fun night has been arranged for Friday, February 10 at the library. All kids are welcome. Action starts at 7 p.m.

This weekend saw the elimination of the Wilberforce team in the tri-county hockey league with Maynooth winning two games. Score was Maynooth 6, Wilberforce 5 and Maynooth 4, Wilberforce 3. A good crowd was on hand for the games, held at the Wilberforce arena.

The Lions Club are having their Valentine Dance Saturday, February 11 in the West Guilford arena. The 50-50 draw will be held at that time. The live band will be "Porcupine Lumber".

I hope you had your cottage roof shovelled off. The snow is getting pretty heavy, with all the mild weather we have had.

A baby shower was held for Debbie Fountain on Saturday, February 4 at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Harry Fountain. Friends and family from the surrounding, Oshawa and Cambridge attended the shower. The cake was decorated by Ann Barker in the shape of a bib. Debbie received many beautiful baby gifts.

Minnie Ackerblade celebrated her 95th birthday January 28 at Homewood Acres in Lochlin. She enjoyed birthday cake and ice cream with her family and friends.

Well, did the ground hog see his shadow or not? Some say yes, some say no. I bet we still get the six more weeks of winter.

Milt Sears is home from hospital. We wish you a speedy recovery Milt.

Nicholas Holliday-Rhodes, I hope that arm is okay soon. If you have any news for me to print would you please call 286-3607. Thank you.

Beware - luxury and ease may create hardening of the attitude.

Mini Card Party winners last week were the following: Euchre - lone hand, Marg McAfee; Hilda Harrison and Marjorie Coulter. Crib - Vera Ward and Ruth Kellett.

The Kinette Club will be having their annual Valentine Dance at the community centre Saturday, February 18 at 8:00 p.m. $5 per person. Everyone is welcome.

Household hint: Clothes - A lemon cut in slices, and boiled with white clothes will keep them white and remove stains. To remove iodine stains from linens rub the stained area with a slice of lemon.

Despite the mild weather the Snowarama went on as scheduled. Fifty-two riders participated and raised $14,110. They did very well.

Carol Thompson held a beautiful baby shower for her sister, Sharon McIntosh last Saturday. Sharon received numerous beautiful baby gifts.

The car races on ice were cancelled last weekend so as not to damage the track because of the mild weather but someone decided to use the track for a joy ride. Some damage was done to the track. The track can be repaired but it is more time and work for those trying to keep it up and the races give the whole family a chance to get out on a weekend. Due to the ice conditions on Lake Simcoe, the Twin Lakes Motor Club will have races on ice in Minden Saturday, February 11, Sunday, February 12, the Credit Valley Car

Club will be racing on ice. Registration is at 9:30, racing at 11:00. Proceeds go for Cystic Fibrosis and Community Services. Admission is free. The races are held at the Minden arena.

The Old Timers will be playing hockey at the Minden arena later this month. Don't miss it.

The flu seems to be making its rounds now. A speedy recovery to all the sick.

I hope to see you all next week.

"Now there's a margarine for people over 40 - it's called middle-aged spread, and you are middle-aged if, when the air is springy, you're not."

Well, they tell us that Punxsutawney Pete came out and saw his shadow on Groundhog Day but that Wiarton Willie did not. Now, where does that leave us? Should we just wait with our fingers crossed and be philosophical about it and accept what comes? After all, we don't have much choice as "whatever will be will be." The rain we had last week wasn't really necessary but it did take the snowbanks down somewhat. The periods of daylight are much longer and we have been having some beautiful snowscapes, when the trees were laden with snow, almost to the breaking point.

The foot clinic will be on Wednesday, February 15 at the school, so call for your appointment.

The Dorset Senior Club had a pleasant outing last week when they gathered at the Nordic Inn for an enjoyable luncheon. There were approximately 18 members present. After lunch they went to the club rooms for cards and shuffle.

On Sunday, January 29 the three Anglican Lake of Bays Mission churches had a joint Communion service at St. Mary Magdalene's in Dorset. The service was followed by a pot luck luncheon at the Rectory. Needless to say there was an abundance of food. The executive of each point held a joint business meeting after lunch to get various financial situations resolved and make plans for the future.

They are still telling us that the lakes are not safe for snow machines but on Saturday, January 28 a fleet of them came across the lake just a dusk, with their lights on. They will take chances. Safe or not it is an attractive sight to see the big eyes of the headlights, one after the other, coming along in the dark. Almost eerie.

Bea and Len Seedhouse have returned home after spending several months in Florida. They report that the temperatures were pretty chilly during their stay. They came back to find their greenhouse collapsed from the weight of snow on it, and we sure had plenty of snow while they were gone.

The Coboconk Feed Mill is no more a "feed mill" as owner John Burgess moved his business to Haliburton this past week. John has served farmers - and non farmers - in the area, very faithfully and had a wide variety of products for sale. Bird seed and dog food in bulk were purchased by non farmers to feed their favourite animals. New owners in the furniture, antique business are taking over the building and we wish John much success in his new store in Haliburton. Since John lived there, he had the long drive south each day so now he will be working from his home area. Good luck, John.

The IGA store on the northerly end of town is coming along nicely, in spite of all this cold weather.

Ross and Myrtle Faulkner are home after a month long visit with son, Lloyd Faulkner and nephew Lawrence Davis, at Belleville.

Several local area ladies attended the Avon meeting at the Haliburton Legion last Tuesday afternoon and as always, enjoyed a pleasant time together.

Walter Marles and Ada Fisher of Lindsay visited their mother, Mrs. Annie Marles on Friday evening.

Several area "horse enthusiasts" took in the big horse sale in Toronto on Wednesday - and some of them brought home new animals to add to their barn.

I hope you are keeping warm during this long winter.

Gooderham News

By MARY HADLEY

We are pleased to learn that Beverley MacDuff is home following surgery in the Peterborough Civic Hospital. She was appreciative of the kindness and concern of her many friends while she was in hospital.

Congratulations to Shannon Mintz on being chosen Junior Princess at the Minden Winter Carnival.

At the beginning of our New Year, a retreat will be held in the new facilities of the Wilberforce United Church on Sunday, February 12 from 3 p.m. to 8 p.m. The Haliburton and Tory Hill Pastoral Charges will be twinning for the day. This involves Ingoldsby, Lochlin, Haliburton, Highland Grove, Wilberforce, Tory Hill and Gooderham. The theme is "Rock North Spirituality". Speakers will be Rev. Henry Getz, Rev. John James and Maurice Bradley. At 5 p.m. there will be a pot luck supper. Music will be supplied by Ray and Chris Johnson. All are welcome and urged to join in this time of inspiration.

I enjoyed a five week holiday in Barrie with my son and his family and in Milton with my sisters and their families. Thus I was unable to report my usual Gooderham news, but I hope to now continue keeping you abreast with what goes on here.

Albert Cary is continuing to improve following surgery in Peterborough and wishes to thank all his friends for their kindness while he was away. His sister, Evelyn, of Carleton Place, has just returned to her home from Ottawa General Hospital where she underwent heart surgery.

Pearl's sister, Joyce, of Agincourt, has just returned from hospital after having suffered a heart attack. Her friends will be glad to know she is recuperating nicely. Marjorie Billings underwent surgery for a detached retina but we are glad to see her home again.

Glen Bird has returned to his home from hospital in Peterborough and is recovering nicely from surgery there. Keep up the good work, Glen.

To Three Score Years and Ten

Oh growing old is not much fun,
Each day a different pain.
I walk where once I used to run
All my joints complain.
But then there comes a day in spring
When all the world is green,
I may admit to seventy
I'm really seventeen.

I once rejoiced in every sport,
In young activity.
I used to haunt the tennis court.
I loved to skate and ski.
I gave up skiing long ago
With tennis close behind.
And now a gentle round of golf
Is difficult I find.
And round about the seventh hole
My game is not so keen.
My knees say, kid, you're seventy
Stop acting seventeen.

And now my children lovingly,
Won't let me lift a hand.
They lead me to a rocking chair,
They just don't understand.
There's still so much for me to do,
So much I haven't seen.
If they'd ignore the seventy,
They'd see I'm seventeen.

And you my dear, how swift the years
Since you and I first met.
How many joys, how few the tears,
I know we've aged but yet
In memory you'll always be
The boy you've always been.
My eyes may look at seventy
My heart sees seventeen.

MIT has been on our mailing list for years and have literally passed out hundreds of pounds of Haliburton County brochures for us. We have sent the Times editorial, the Creelman article, more brochures and more county maps with a covering letter to help further instruct MIT as to where this county is.

Ottawa, in some instances, is not much better as was the case when someone doing research on an abandoned gold mine in Dysart, contacted one of the mines departments there, only to be asked if Haliburton was in Alberta?

Stocks on Ice races at Minden had to be cancelled last weekend due to the mild weather, however races will be held for the next three consecutive weekends including runs that were previously scheduled to take place in Orillia.

We thank Tom Prentice for keeping us informed as to date changes and if you would like further information about participating call him at (705) 286-1722.

Coming events information is greatly appreciated. We are presently compiling summer events statistics for the Ontario government publications, and would like any further plans of activities, date changes and additions to your programs, which your club or organization may have made, since we canvassed you last October 1983 for the plastic bag event list.

Katimavik is the Inuit word for meeting place. Katimaviks - are 17 to 21 year olds from all across our country who are selected by computer to give each group of twelve a cross section of representatives. Approximately 1700 participants are chosen each year from the thousands who apply for the Federal Government program. They come into communities such as ours and help with a variety of tasks that would not be accomplished otherwise, often because there simply is no money in any budget to cover the work they take on. Basically all that they require from the sponsoring community is a supervisor to direct them and citizens who show concern and appreciation.

You may recall their generous donation of time and effort to the Chamber in the fall when the last group painted the reception area. Some people have suggested that the paint will help support the walls for another year.

Katimaviks are paid $1 per day by the Federal Government no matter how hard they work and if they survive the nine month program they receive a $1000 honorarium. They spend three month periods in three different regions of Canada; a third of the program in Quebec as one of the aims is to become bilingual. They learn many survival skills as each has their turn at cooking for the group, budgeting and meal planning. Other activities include mountain climbing in B.C., outdoor sub-zero camping at Kandalore, authentic Indian moccasin making, helping at the Winter Carnival, a trip to the Chalk River Nuclear Lab, C.N. Tower and Science Centre in Toronto, weekly gym sessions as well as helping weekly with swimming lessons for disabled children at the Pinestone, and/or other projects the group as a whole agree upon.

Minden Katimaviks are presently looking for billets from February 19 to March 4 which enables the individual members to become one of the family of local residents and as such learn about the kind of people that make up this county. They will help you and you help them by giving of your knowledge and knowhow in an area new to them and the Federal Government provides a stipend. For more information please call Scott Moody at 286-3777.

Student Venture Capital Program is in its 11th year of operation. Interest-free loans are re-payable October 1, 1984. The deadline for application is June 15, 1984 and forms will be available from Canada Employment Centres and high school guidance centres, however your business proposal has a better chance of success if you submit as close to April 2, 1984 as possible. Applicants must be 15 years old or over, returning as full-time students in the fall of 1984, eligible to work in Canada, and businesses must be operated in Ontario. A maximum of $2000 is available to the successful applicant from April 2, 1984 to October 1, 1984.

February 17 - 19 Haliburton Rotary Winter Carnival will be featuring snow sculpture, cross country touring, snowmobile safari, snowmobile drags on Saturday, three wheeled races on Sunday, teen dance and Carnival Queen crowning Friday night, a dance for adults and another for teens Saturday night, lumbermen's display at the ball park, hockey and figure skating Sunday at the arena, etc. etc. with lots of the activity on or around Head Lake.

On Friday, February 17 at 8:00 p.m. Toronto NHL Oltimers Hockey Club with such notables as Eddie Shack, Rod Seiling, Norm Ullman, Ron Ellis, Andy Bathgate, Dean Prentice, Rene Robert and Haliburton's own Ron Stackhouse will be playing our Minden Allstars at the Community Centre. Tickets include the game, meet the players and a dance after the game. Proceeds go to the arena capital fund.

Last Friday, Chamber director Wendy Ramsy called to apologize for not being able to help with some Chamber work. She and husband Guy, owners of Halimar Resort, are now proud parents of Jennifer Jolene, 5 lbs. 13 oz., born February 3, 1984.

A Pinch of Sand

By H. JEAN BROWN

When the French settled in Louisiana they lacked the ingredients they needed to make their traditional fish stew, bouillabaisse. They learned to utilize the local seafood, herbs and vegetables and so, fortunately for the south, created their famous dish, GUMBO. Here in Canada we don't have lump crab or soft shell crab and shrimp in the shell is not easy to find so the following recipe has been adapted to Canadian usage. The Cajuns made their gumbo in enormous quantities. This one is considerably reduced.

Combo Gumbo

1 ham hock
2 tsp. salt
2 stalks celery
1 lb. shrimp
1/2 lb. okra sliced (1 pkg.)
1 bay leaf
salt, pepper
1 tsp. molasses
hot rice
1 quart water
1/4 cup bacon drippings
1 medium onion
1/2 cup parsley chopped
2 tomatoes chopped
1 tbs. worcestershire
1 tsp. thyme
1/2 tsp. paprika
3 tbs. lemon juice
2 lbs. chicken parts
1/4 cup flour
1/2 large green pepper
1 clove garlic minced
additional drippings
1/8 tsp. tabasco
1/4 tsp. rosemary crushed
1-2 tins crabmeat
gumbo file (optional)
Combine chicken and water in large dutch oven, bring to a boil, cover and simmer until chicken is tender, about 1 1/2 hours. Remove from broth, reserve broth. Remove meat from bones and cube. Should be about 3 cups broth. Heat 1/4 cup bacon drippings, stir in flour, cook until the colour of a copper penny, about 10 minutes. Add celery onion and green pepper chopped, garlic and parsley. Cook over low heat about 35 minutes, mixture will be dry. If shrimp is in shells, peel and refrigerate, if tinned add liquid to broth and set aside. Cook okra in bacon drippings, add to vegetable mixture along with broth, ham hock and all seasoning except lemon juice and molasses, simmer 2 hrs., then add cooked chicken, crab and molasses. Cook additional 20 minutes, add shrimp, simmer 5 minutes, stir in lemon juice, add file if desired. Serve over hot rice in bowls.

Yield: 1 1/2-2 quarts.
Note: File is dried sassafras leaves. If unobtainable a good substitute is 1 tsp. curry, 1/8 tsp. cumin, 1/4 tsp. coriander.

occasion with his family. He was presented with a lifetime family membership for his work promoting cross-country skiing in Haliburton.

It was a beautiful day for skiing, especially for children. The temperature might have risen as high as 5°C or about 40°F in the afternoon. There was little wind in the bush so no one had to worry about cold unless he fell a lot and got wet. The trails were well set with ski tracks. Cautious people also noticed that where the tracks disappeared and the trail sloped downward it was time to snow plow. Often the trail was wider in these spots and if you were well under control going down you could notice with a certain satisfaction distinct signs made by the less cautious or experienced. A lot of people were out but I heard many say that they had trouble waxing and some say they hadn't skied at all because they anticipated problems.

My group used an orange wax. It was at room temperature but since the skis had been in the shed all week, they were cold. This is the exact opposite of the recommended procedure. Cold wax should go on warm skis. Our mistake probably resulted in the wax going on in globs, too thickly. We were able to climb all the hills west bound on the Jim Beef straight ahead but at the top we had to work the skis back and forth to get some glide again.

Having noted the problems I looked up the chapters on waxing in my old book "Complete Cross Country Skiing and Ski-Touring". It has such an impressive title! The book mentioned six different types and about five different colours of hard wax. The orange wax I had used wasn't mentioned. I noticed also that in my collection of waxes the hardest ones are at most half used while the softer ones are worn down to short stubs. Waxing skis satisfactorily demands more thought as spring approaches and conditions fluctuate daily and sometimes hourly. The extra care and patience is worth the effort, however, to enjoy the mild conditions. Two oldtimers, Chuck Wood and Harry Marmot, assure me we have at least six weeks of skiing left. Some might know Harry's wife. She was Jean Monax but the family has moved away.

Watch for news of Ski Club activities on the Haliburton Carnival weekend.

Love Grows

In youth, you thought of roses, and June,
And the magic light of the glowing moon -
In youth.

Then ended the age of love's first flower,
And the magic was a fleeting hour -
Which passed.

But through the years, new magic came,
And though it changed, love was the same -
And grew.

For change must come, but it can bring
Love deeper far than known in spring -
And richer.

Now, roses of June, and moon magic still Bring memories sweet, and loving hearts fill -
To overflow.

The Migrants' Return

The February snow lies deep upon the land. In the midst of one of the coldest winters in recent years, it is easy to lose sight of the fact that spring, really and truly, is just around the corner. One of the most obvious signs of spring is the return of the birds. Most of us watch for the first robin sometime in late March and take that as a harbinger of better things to come. But migration, that mysterious, almost magical compulsion that moves tiny creatures over incredible routes, begins in February. The first migrants to return to Ontario are horned larks, small birds with the colouring of sparrows, highlighted by bright yellow throats and devilish little ear tufts that look like horns. Watch for them on weed stalks that poke up through the snow on the verges of country roads. They will be followed by flocks of crows and, wherever there is open water, by pairs of adventurous ducks. By mid-March tundra swans, bound for the shores of the Arctic Ocean, arrive in the thousands for a brief stopover along the north shore of Lakes Erie and Ontario. As March gives way to April and April to May, the songbirds follow, first in a trickle, then in a flood. The grand finale of migration is the inundation of warblers that sweeps up from the south. One of the very best places on the North American continent to watch this colourful show is at Point Pelee, a finger of land pointing down into the west end of Lake Erie. Here the birds are funneled along the narrow point in numbers reaching the tens of thousands. On 'wave' days, caused by cold air from the north meeting warm air from the south, the travellers rest so that observers may see as many as 150 different species in a 24 hour period. Each year, the Federation of Ontario Naturalists organizes a week of birding at Pelee for those who want to witness this natural wonder. The leaders are experts, but those who join them need only be curious about nature and want to learn more of its secrets. The dates of this year's trip are May 6 - 11. If you would like more information on this or any of the many other nature tours offered across Canada, contact FON Trips, 355 Lesmill Road, Don Mills, Ontario, M3B 2W8, telephone (416) 444-8419.

To The Editor:
Over 1,000,000 fur-bearing animals will be trapped this winter in Ontario, the vast majority in leg-hold traps. They will suffer unbearable pain, terror, and stress for hours or days. Some will "wing off" leaving their paws behind in the trap; most will die of shock or exposure. Many untargeted animals and birds will be taken needlessly. The leg-hold trap is a barbaric, antiquated device which Charles Darwin described as a diabolical instrument of torture, comparable to the torture rack.

Ed Philip, MPP (NDP Etobicoke) submitted Bill 154 to amend the Game and Fish Act in the Ontario Legislature on December 13, 1983. The Bill bans use of the leg-hold trap on land with the exception of fox, wolf and coyote, in which cases a padded leg-hold trap or some other type of humane trap must be used. The Bill establishes a number of other important humane trapping concepts. Eleven animal welfare groups have stated that the leg-hold trap should be banned. The Ontario Trappers Association which has implemented progressive trapping improvements recently, has stated it would support various humane trapping regulations including a restriction on the use of the leg-hold trap on land to only fox, wolf and coyote. Persons who wish to support Ed Philip's Bill 154 may obtain copies of a Petition from LEG-HOLD!, Suite 805, 65 Queen Street West, Toronto, Ontario M5H 2M5.

Yours truly,
J. Robert Gardiner

Nicholls suffers a broken jaw

Bernie Nicholls, Los Angeles Kings' all-star centre, has suffered a broken jaw and will be sidelined for an indefinite period. As of Sunday afternoon Bernie was leading his team in the scoring race followed closely by Marcel Dionne, who was trailing by one point. Nicholls has 69 points and his teammate Dionne has 68. Nicholls, 22, of West Guilford, suffered the broken jaw a week ago against Calgary Flames, but according to the Toronto Star he played in two contests following that - including the N.H.L. All-Star game played recently in New Jersey. After experiencing continued pain, he had the jaw checked last Friday. Team physicians determined it was fractured and wired it shut. This is the second time this year that Nicholls has been on the injury list and up to the time that he got hurt he was 11th among the National Hockey League point getters. Rumour has it that he will be out for at least six weeks and if this is the case he should be back in plenty of time for the play-offs which will get underway during the first week of April.

Our good samaritan came again, this Friday afternoon. Grace Coburn to lead the singing, Fred Ballard to play the tunes. Grace had a humorous poem: 'Good husbands are sent from Heaven, as long as things are going well, but if he turns cantankerous, it's kind of hard to tell.' Friendship is so precious, It can't be bought with gold, Yet friendship everywhere abounds For loving hearts to hold.

Dale Robinson made a presentation on the imple-

Haliburton: a nice place

The village of Haliburton has changed an awful lot since its early days in the 1860's...but there are still plenty of attractions for sight-seers.

While you're up at the arena, why not drop by the historic municipal building? The structure dates back to early this century -- but the first town hall was built back in 1871.

The council of the municipality of Dysart et al operates out of the building. Dysart is composed of nine townships in the county, lumped together for administration purposes because of their sparse population.

The Rails' End Gallery on York Street is well worth a visit. It was once located on a line that went through to Lindsay -- a line long since abandoned. Now it has been re-born as an art gallery, a gallery second to none for a community the size of Haliburton.

There are some beautiful old churches in town. The United Church on Pine St. has the simple wooden frame construction so typical of small-town Canadian churches. On the inside are beautiful stained glass windows.

St. George's Anglican Church, with its beautiful view of Head Lake, is an imposing stone structure with a beautiful interior.

Back on Pine Street is Banks General Store, a building that dates back to the early days of Haliburton. It's well worth a visit -- for the owners have preserved some of the bottles, signs and "collectables" of years gone by, for display.

You can drive around town and take in each sight one at a time -- or why not head back up Highway 121 (towards Bancroft) and go to Skyline Park, just about a mile outside the village limits. From the top of the mountain the village spreads out below.

Take a bit of time out from all the activities to look around -- and you'll see just why so many people born in the village chose to remain here all their lives.

New events, old favourites promise an enjoyable weekend

This year's Haliburton Winter Carnival is just about set to go, and members of the local Rotary Club are making last minute preparations for what promises to be a busy, fun-filled weekend. The emphasis is once again on family participation, and with that in mind, club members have worked together with many community groups to come up with three full days of activities, that promise plenty of variety and inexpensive entertainment.

The carnival begins Friday afternoon, February 17, with the official opening of the weekend-long fish derby. Local anglers can test their skills at landing those big ones lurking beneath the ice, and compete for prizes. Haliburton Red and White is the official weigh-in station. The scales will be in operation all day Saturday, and for two hours, from noon to 2 p.m. on Sunday, when the contest officially ends.

At 4 p.m. the doors of the Dysart et al arena will open to individuals and families who want to do a little skating. Admission is free, and there should be lots of room for everybody who wants to get some exercise and have a few laughs at the same time.

And if the cold air and the workout combine to make you hungry, just head upstairs to the arena auditorium, where the CGIT group is offering a chili supper at bargain prices - $3 for adults and $2 for children.

Also on Friday night, curling enthusiasts will make the first shots in the annual Pinestone Inn curling bonspiel. As many as 24 rinks are expected to take part in the three day spiel, and visitors are welcome to observe the action anytime from the spacious lounge, with its good view of the ice surface.

At 7 p.m. the Rails' End Gallery will open its doors for the annual Winter Carnival Sale. On display will be some of the best work produced by area artisans and artists who are also members of the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts. As an added attraction, there will be a display of model railroading by the Lindsay and District Engineers.

Also at 7 p.m., hockey action is scheduled at the Dysart arena. One of the local teams will see action in Ontario playdowns, but at this point it's too early to say who will be playing.

The loggers' show, one of the most popular events at the '83 carnival, is back this year

Rounding out Friday's activities is a teen dance at the arena auditorium. Highlights of this dance will be the crowning of the carnival Queen and Princesses, who will be selected by a committee of judges, and will reign over the rest of the weekend's events. The successful contestants will win cash prizes.

Saturday's events

Organizers of this year's Haliburton Rotary Winter Carnival have been working for months to prepare for the big weekend, and they've managed to pack Saturday with events that should provide fun for the whole family.

The day will get off to an early start with a traditional pancake breakfast. Beginning at 7:30 a.m. and continuing through 11 a.m., carnival goers can enjoy some hearty Canadian fare - pancakes swimming in maple syrup, sausages and coffee. Club members and helpers will staff the kitchen at Haliburton Legion Hall to ensure that the flapjacks are hot off the griddle throughout the morning.

Anglers taking part in the fish derby will want to get an early start at trying to land the big one. Last year, Art Ouellette of Haliburton won top prize with a monster lake trout, but there are plenty left to be caught. Weigh in for the derby is at Haliburton Red and White all day Saturday.

Over at the Haliburton Curling club, competitors will take to the ice at 8 a.m. on Saturday to continue the Pinestone spiel. The event will feature at least 24 rinks from many clubs in southern Ontario. Spectators are always welcome, and refreshments are available throughout the day.

As the curlers begin delivering the first rocks of the day, hockey will get underway at the Dysart arena. A one day tournament organized by the local men's recreational hockey league will pit eight teams from Haliburton County and surrounding area against each other, leading to consolation and championship games in late afternoon. The action will be fast and furious, and should please local hockey fans.

At 10 a.m. the Rails' End Gallery will open its doors once again to continue its carnival exhibition and sale. On display, and offered for sale, will be some of the best work produced by local artists and crafts people. As an added attraction, a display of model railroading has been arranged, featuring members of the Lindsay and District Engineers Club. Be sure to drop by and view the set up. The Gallery will remain open until 5 p.m.

Between 11 a.m. and noon, competitors in snowmobile and three wheel vehicle drag races must register at the dock area on Head Lake.

At 10 a.m., a bake sale gets underway in the showroom of Curry Motors. This sale, sponsored by the ladies of The Eastern Star, is a carnival tradition, and the goods go quickly, so be sure to get there in time for the start of the sale. Light lunches will be available as well.

Cross country skiers will have an opportunity to enjoy games and fun for the whole family beginning at 10:30 a.m. at the Pinestone Inn. In the afternoon, long and short organized tours are planned on the groomed trails surrounding the Inn.

Between noon and 2 p.m., another carnival favourite is scheduled to take place at Victoria Street public school. If you haven't tried crazy carpet riding, don't miss it. The idea is to slide down the hill behind the school on a plastic mat, in an inner tube, or on some other conveyance. There are always plenty of laughs and some spills as well. Refreshments will be available to help participants warm up when they've had their fill of sliding.

At 1 p.m. the snowmobile and ATC drag races get underway on Head Lake. Last year 150 entries were received, and organizers are hoping that number will increase to at least 200 this year. The races will take place on a 600 foot long stretch of ice, with trophies and cash prizes to the winners in various categories. Racers will be checked with a radar gun to determine their top speed at the end of the run.

At the same time, about 15 kilometres from the village, at Sir Sam's ski area adjacent to Eagle Lake, downhill enthusiasts will be-

Racing, skating, darts on tap Sunday

Sunday is a quieter day for participants in the Haliburton Winter Carnival, but there will still be several activities, including snowmobile races, to provide spectator interest.

Local churches hold services at various times on Sunday morning, and carnival goers are invited to attend the one of their choice. Winter attire is welcome.

Beginning at noon, there will be a variety of events on Head Lake. Snowmobiles at ATC's will race in a grand prix competition, twisting and turning around a specially prepared track.

Noon is also the starting time for playdowns leading to the second annual trans Atlantic Dart tournament at the Haliburton Legion. At 3:30 p.m. the top contestants will begin games of '301'. The object is to complete the games faster than competitors at the Red Lion, a pub in Deadman's Cross, England, who will be linked to the local Legion by telephone. It's a novel and fascinating event. Last year, only one local competitor managed to better the English experts, but this year the tide may turn in Haliburton's favour. Spectators are welcome to cheer for our side throughout the afternoon. Admission is $2 and the price includes an English pub style meal.

At 1 p.m. skinanigans will get underway at Sir Sam's. This afternoon of zany costumes, competitions and good times should provide plenty of fun for downhill skiers. The event will include as well, a giant slalom race for the Curry Motors Cup.

At 2:30 p.m. the Haliburton Figure Skating Club will stage its annual carnival, entitled 'Smurfs in Strawberry Land'. Admission is $3 for adults, $1 for children under 12, and free for preschoolers.

Rounding out a busy weekend will be OMHA playoff hockey featuring one of several local teams.

Loggers' show one of many on Saturday gin testing their skills in a Molstar race. This event allows recreational skiers to compete against a time set by world ranked racer Steve Podborski. It's a fun event, and one that devoted recreational skiers won't want to miss.

Throughout the afternoon, horse drawn sleigh rides will be available in Haliburton. Starting point is the Dysart arena, and there is no charge.

At 2 p.m. local woodsmen can test their skills in the Lumbermen's show. This event was initiated last year and proved to be one of the highlights of the carnival. Competitors will have a choice of four events, a chainsaw cutting contest, a two person cross cut saw event, an axe chopping competition, and tree felling contest. Anyone is eligible to enter, and spectators are urged to cheer for their favourites.

At 3 p.m. a ball hockey tournament may be held in the ball field at the Dyart arena if space is available.

If a day in the outdoors has put an edge on your appetite, you won't want to miss the spaghetti and meatball supper which begins at the Haliburton Legion at 4:00 p.m. and continues through 6:30 p.m. This is another carnival tradition, sponsored by the women of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church in the village. Second helpings are encouraged, and best of all, they're free.

The day will wrap up with a gala carnival dance at the Legion, featuring live music and a draw for a weekend in Toronto.

Teens can also dance to their hearts' content to the music provided by a DJ in the auditorium of the Dysart arena.

That famous spaghetti dinner is set for Saturday afternoon

If you're a spaghetti lover (and who isn't?), you'll be happy to learn that the women of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church in Haliburton are once again putting on a spaghetti and meatball supper in conjunction with this year's carnival.

The feast begins at 4 p.m. and continues through 6:30 p.m. on Saturday in the auditorium of the Haliburton Legion. There'll be miles of steaming pasta and gallons of spicy sauce, all at a bargain price. And if you've got some room left after your first plate full, don't worry, the second plateful is free.

Mark the date on your calendar and get set for a treat. These dinners are famous, and if you haven't tried them, you owe it to yourself to find out why they're a cherished event in the community.

You can have a second helping free!

The carnival has grown from a humble beginning

The weekend of February 17-19 will mark the 16th anniversary of the Haliburton Winter Carnival, an event that has grown from humble beginnings to become one of the highlights of the winter season for residents and visitors alike.

Today's carnival includes a mixture of traditional events as well as new ones, with something for just about everyone. Months of planning help to ensure success. But one uncontrollable factor hangs like a Damoclean sword over the 1984 carnival; the weather. And in that respect, today's carnival is no different from the first one, when the village was caught up in the excitement of trying something for the first time.

For years prior to 1969 the Rotary Club, local citizens and various organizations talked about staging a winter carnival, surrounding area rallied together.

Headquarters were set up in the old Grand Central Hotel on the main street which was vacant at that time. Later, Dr. Fred Griffith, who owned the building, turned it into a Department store but offered the committee one section of the building to set up an office.

The third week of January was the date for the first carnival, and after months of hard work and preparation the show was ready to go on the road. On the Friday morning of the first winter carnival, weather conditions turned bad. It was raining hard and it continued all day long, completely demolishing the ice sculptures. In the afternoon, with the rain still coming down, a decision had to be made whether to go ahead with the carnival or cancel it. Co-chairmen Art Ward but the idea was not acted on. Then, in November of 1968, Wayne Wood, the present clerk-administrator for the Municipality of Dysart et al, called a meeting of interested citizens to see if a winter carnival could be organized. Twenty people turned out, including six members of the Rotary Club, Peter Curry, Art Ward, Cliff Dawson, Grant Rae, Rae McKinnon, Bob Bishop, Jr., and other interested citizens. Art Ward and Peter Curry were elected co-chairmen for the event. Both men worked hard in an effort to put that first carnival together.

The weather hasn't always co operated

Under their direction, all the organizations in Haliburton and and Peter Curry were on the spot. Half the people wanted it called off while the other half said go ahead. It was soon decided that rain or no rain, the carnival would go on as scheduled. The tide started to turn on Friday evening when the rain ceased. By Saturday cold had returned and the carnival was underway.

John Beachli provided a gas fired heater to heat the office and Betty Hodgson donated her services as the headquarters secretary. She worked hard handing out free coffee, answering the phone, writing letters and sending out news releases to radio

Toquepic talk

By TOQUEPIC

Well, here I am back once again, your old friend Toquepic to try to keep you up to date on just what is going to happen and just what you can expect to see if you are one of the lucky people who are planning to attend the annual Haliburton Winter Carnival which is scheduled for Haliburton on Friday, Saturday column, making those final plans and drafting out a timetable so that I will not be absent from any of the events that will be taking place during these three days of fun and frolic. Some of you may be wondering how I got my name. Just to refresh your memory, a few years back the call went out for ideas and believe it or not 300 names were way, shape or form, I offer my congratulations. We must remember there wouldn't even be a carnival if it wasn't for people like you.

Getting away from the aspect of the many events and those who will be participating in them, I like to view these three days in our winter wonderland as not just a carnival but as a homecoming week. It seems to be that this is a time when friends and relatives who are living in other communities return home, not only to attend the carnival but to renew old acquaintances. It's a time for family to get together and this is something that is so badly needed in our society today. Chances are that you may meet an old friend in Haliburton on carnival weekend whom you haven't seen for many years and just think of the stories you will have to tell each other on what you have been doing and where you have been living. With so many depressing items in the news these days it's sure good to come back to Haliburton and get away from it all.

If you would like to take a minute out here and go back a few years I can always remember some of the oldtimers telling about the first Haliburton Winter Carnival in 1969. That was the year that everyone was so enthusiastic as it was their first try at staging a winter event such as this. Many will never forget how it poured rain all day Friday, the first day of the carnival. It rained so hard that water ran down the main street and at that time it was very doubtful if the first carnival would be a success. The co-chairman for that first carnival were Art Ward and Peter Curry. These two gentlemen had a very hard decision to make. Would the carnival go on or would it have to be postponed? These two men, who have always been positive and Sunday, February 17, 18 and 19. When you see me on Friday, February 17, which is the first day of the carnival, going around with a toque for my body and skates on my feet, one and all should know that it will be a special occasion for me as it will mark the date of my sixteenth birthday. Yes I have been turning up at all the events connected with the Haliburton Winter Carnival ever since the first winter it was held back in 1969.

This year will be no exception as far as the Winter Carnival is concerned and I am back writing my submitted. The winning entry, "Toquepic" was submitted by a 14 year old boy from Rexdale.

Writing a column such as this not only affords me the opportunity to voice my opinion on matters concerning the big event but it also gives me the chance to get around and chat with the people and talk about the various topics of the day. On my visits I also try, if time allows, to get around and talk to all those who put in so many hard working hours to see that each event is run on time. To all those who take part in the carnival in any and newspapers. She continued on in this capacity for the next two or three years. A loud speaker system was set up outside the committee headquarters playing lively music, and some local people, caught up in the excitement, danced in the main street. Roy Brohm, who was reeve at that time, came to committee headquarters and along with Art Ward, officially opened that first winter carnival.

For the first two or three years the carnival was held in the third week of January, but each year it seemed to run into adverse weather conditions. Later it was decided to change the dates from January to the third week in February, which proved to be a good move. One of the main features for the first two or three carnivals was a roast beaver breakfast put on at the Legion Hall by the Department of Lands and Forests.

Snowmobile events continue to be popular with riders, spectators.

thinkers, made a decision that the show must go on and from there on in it was full speed ahead, the weather turned colder on the Saturday and the rest is now history.

As the 1984 Winter Carnival approaches may I remind everyone to make sure to turn on your outside lights that have left up since Christmas as they add a great deal of colour to the winter carnival spectacle.

I have in front of me a copy of this year's program with the list of each and every event along with the times that they will be held. I am not going to take the time to go into each and every item that is on the program as you will find write-ups on all the various activities on the pages of the winter carnival section. There are a few new items on this year that I might make mention of here and one is on Friday evening from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. at the Ralls' End Gallery when the Lindsay and District Engineers display will be on view for the public. This display will also be featured on Saturday at the same location at the Gallery. Men's Recreational Hockey will also be a new feature on Saturday. Carnival cross country skiing is also on tap at Pinestone Inn on Saturday starting at 10:30 a.m. Another new feature on Saturday will be the Ball Hockey Tournament at the Outdoor Arena (ball field) at 3:00 p.m. Sunday at noon features a wide variety of events at Head Lake, including cross country snowmobile races, ATC races (four classes) and horse-drawn sleigh rides. At 1 p.m. on Sunday, Skinanigans goes at Sir Sam's ski area. It will be dress up day with a prize for the best costume. There will be a giant slalom race for the Curry Motors Cup and a chocolate bar hunt for the kiddies.

For the first time in the history of the Haliburton Winter Carnival the Haliburton Figure Skating Club will be presenting their annual Skating Carnival at the Haliburton arena on Sunday afternoon from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. The theme will be 'Smurfs in Strawberryland'. The 1984 winter carnival will conclude on Sunday afternoon at 4:30 p.m. when the Haliburton Minor Hockey Association will stage an OMHA playoff hockey game at the arena. I have just scratched the surface on a few of the new events you can look forward to seeing this year and as far as the carnival is concerned there is plenty more to do and see. Check the program with dates and times which appears on another page in this section.

An event such as the Haliburton Winter Carnival just doesn't happen - it takes the work of a great many people. It takes weeks of planning and a great deal of work and manpower to put on a show such as the one that is coming up. Each year the event is organized and spearheaded by the Rotary Club of Haliburton who are to be congratulated on the great job they are doing. They can't do it alone - they must have your help and support.

The success of this winter carnival depends on a great many things, but the main item has to be participation. If everyone participates it will be a great success. Reservations have been coming in for hotel and motel accommodations and many people have told us that they are coming back for the annual event. There is no doubt in my mind that we will have hundreds of people here, so now it's up to us to come through with a first class show.

In this old world of ours we all seem to be faced with many day to day problems which seem to be getting bigger and bigger as time goes by. Yes, it's very easy to get depressed when one stops and thinks of nuclear war, inflation, unemployment, moral decay, and what have you. Carnival weekend of February 17, 18 and 19 will give each everyone of us the opportunity to forget all of these problems, even if it is only for three days. It will also give us the opportunity to get out there and have some good clean fun and a few good old hearty laughs. We can also think of this weekend of winter entertainment as one in which we can all join together as one family, visitors and local citizens alike, in a common bond of friendship. It's not only a time to have fun but a great opportunity to get to know each other better.

In summing up I would like to issue you a personal invitation to come back and join us on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 17, 18 and 19 for the 1984 Haliburton Winter Carnival. Plan now to bring along the entire family for a weekend that you will never forget.

As I said before, I will be around all weekend attending as many events as my tight schedule will permit. I sincerely hope that I will have the opportunity to meet each and everyone of you and welcome you to this great area of the county.

This is your old friend Toquepic saying goodbye, and so long for now.

There'll be plenty of chances to dance on Carnival nights

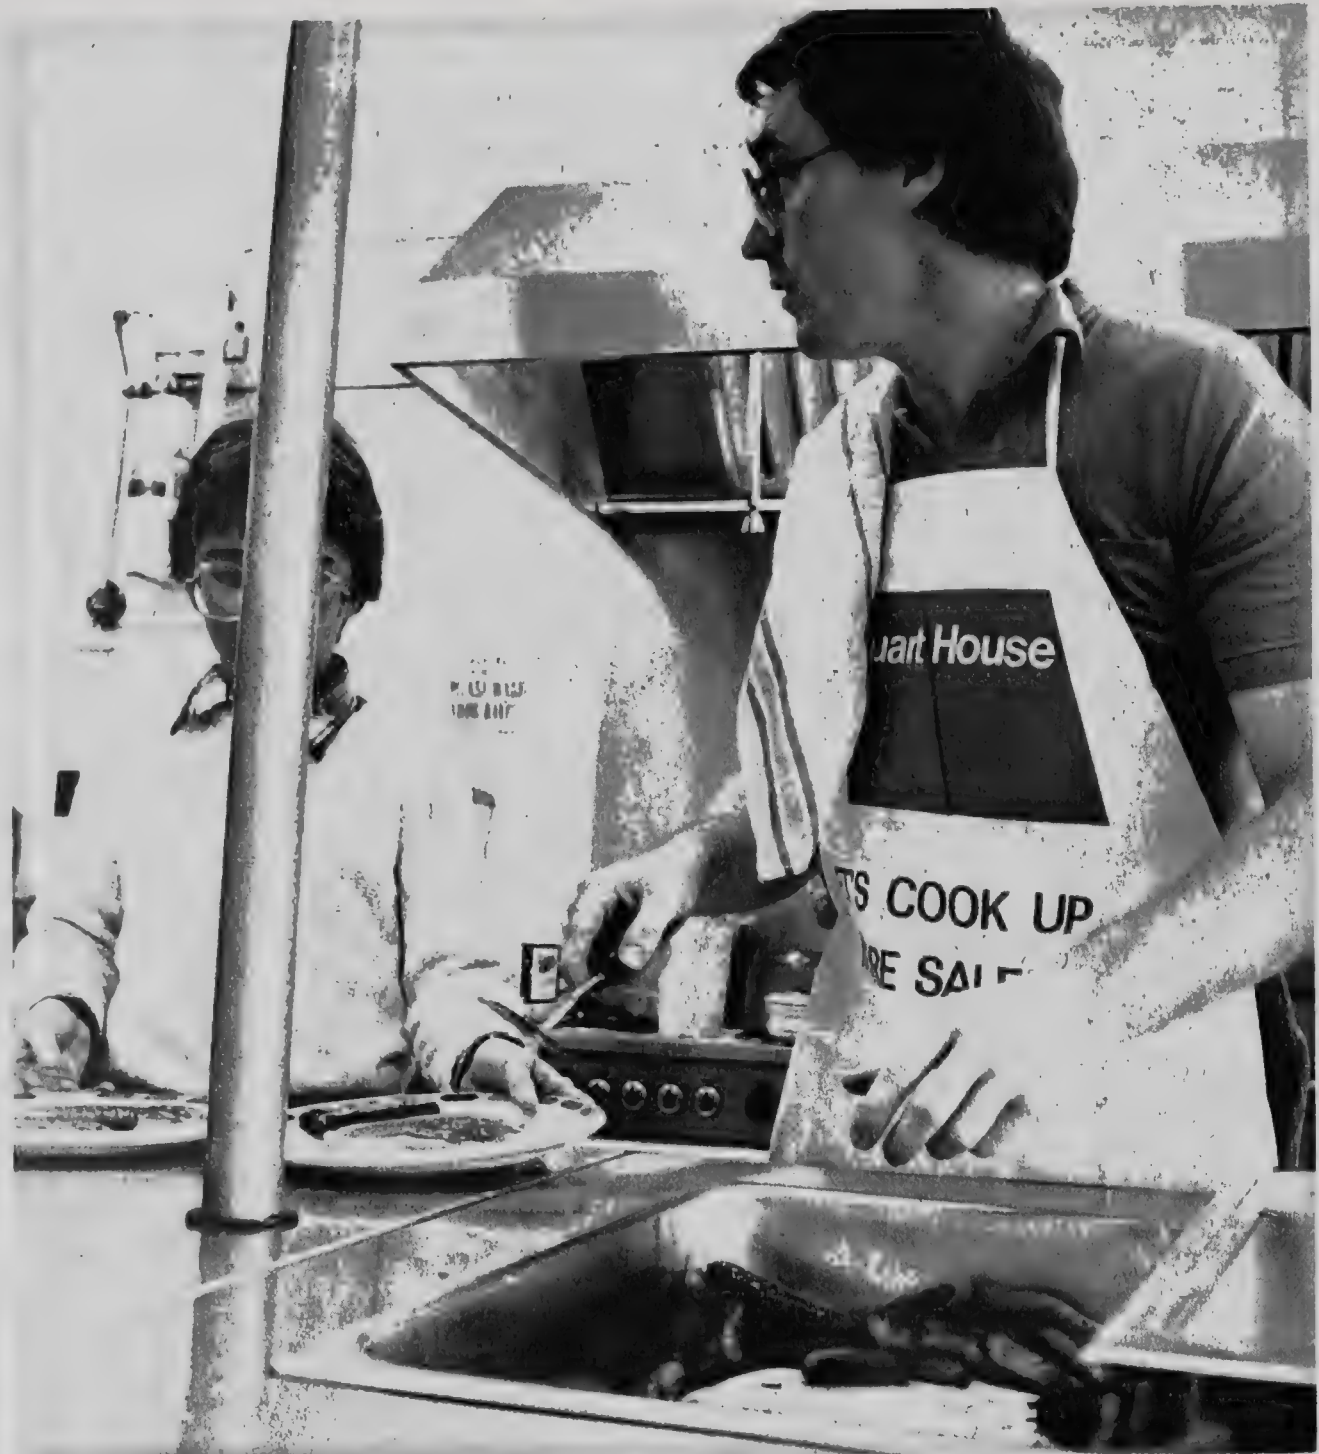

If you like dancing, you'll find that this year's Haliburton Rotary Winter Carnival has kept you in mind. Three dances are planned over carnival weekend, two of them for teens and the other for adults.

On Friday night, local teens can get together in the auditorium of the Dysart arena to dance to the music of a disc jockey. A highlight of the night will be the crowning of the carnival Queen and Princesses. This competition is open to local high school students. The winners will reign over the rest of the weekend's activities.

Saturday night has been set aside for the gala carnival dance. This popular event will be held at the Haliburton Legion, and will feature live music. One lucky couple in the attendance will win an expenses paid weekend in Toronto.

Teens have not been forgotten on Saturday night. A second dance will be held for them in the arena auditorium, with the music once again supplied by a disc jockey.

Hot off the griddle and onto your plate

Canadian breakfast Saturday

Don't miss your chance to feast on pancakes, sausages and syrup

What could be more Canadian than pancakes and maple syrup on a frozen February morning? And what could be better than to enjoy them in the company of friends without having to lift a finger to cook or serve.

If you like hearty breakfasts, you won't want to miss the meal that will be served up on Saturday morning at the Haliburton Legion. Every year, hundreds of people take advantage of the chance to dig into a mound of flapjacks swimming in syrup, topped off with sausages hot off the griddle. But there is always plenty to go around, and since the local Rotarians begin serving at 7:30 a.m. and continue right through to 11 a.m. there should be no trouble with lineups.

The Trappers Pancake Breakfast - it's a carnival highlight you won't want to miss.

Fish derby should appeal to avid anglers

Fishermen will have an opportunity to make their favourite sport part of the Carnival again this year through the fish derby contest.

A prize will be awarded for the largest fish caught during the three day weekend.

Weigh-in station for the contest is Easton's Red and White in Haliburton village, and anglers can take their catches in to be tested on the scales from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and from noon to 2 p.m. on Sunday.

Competition was excellent in last year's fish derby, and this year is expected to be equally competitive, as fishermen bait their hooks and tempt the trout in an effort to come up with a big one.

Prizes awarded on Sunday

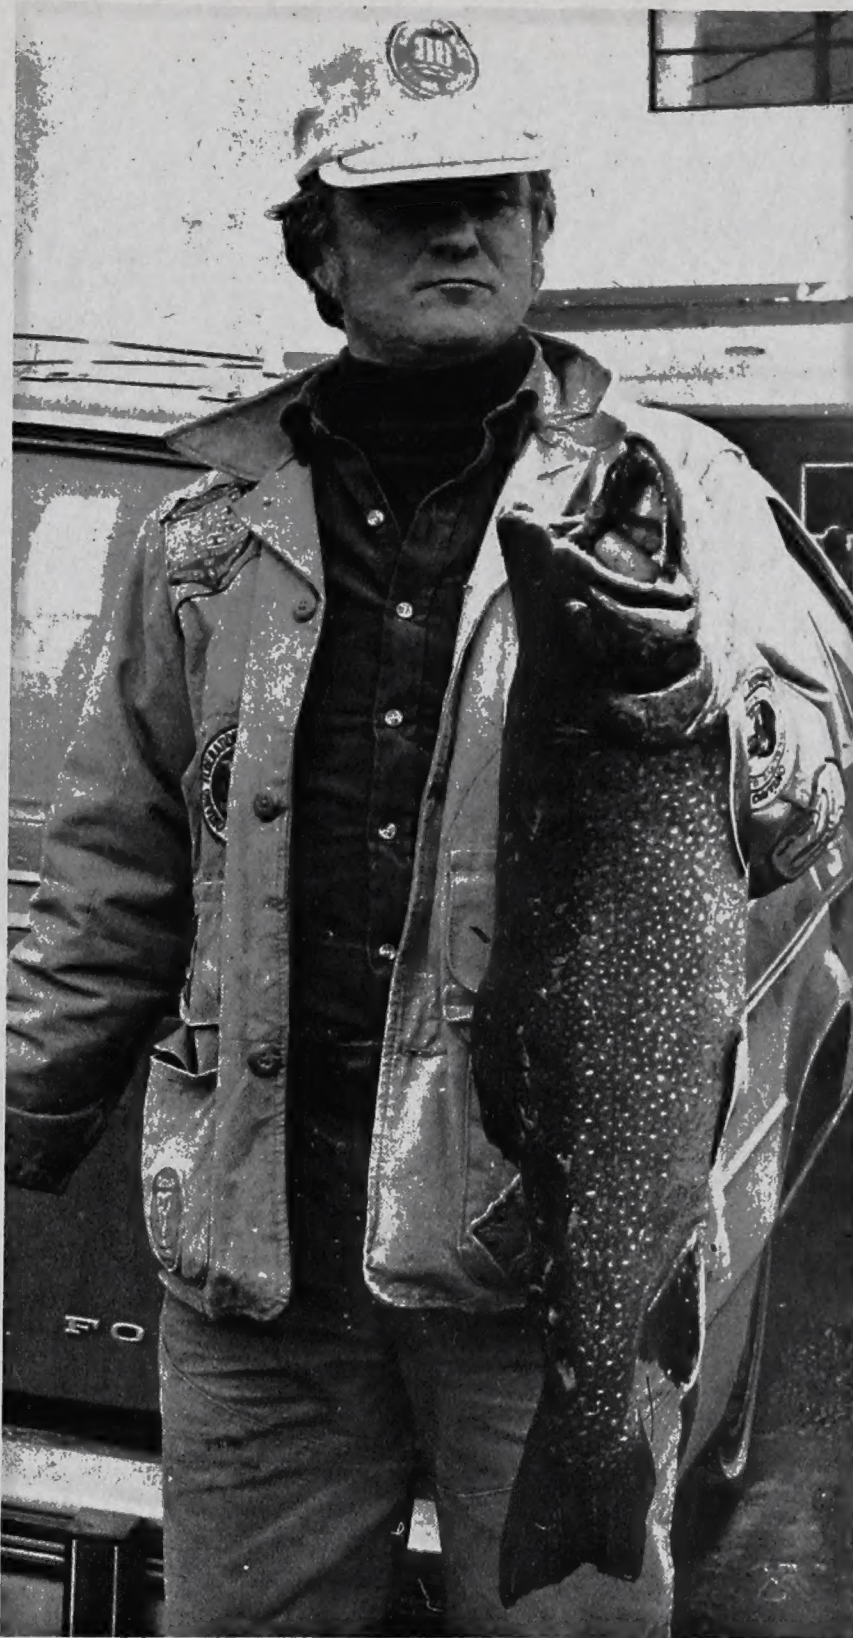

There was no question who won the ice fishing competition last year. Art Ouellette pulled in a nine-pound speckled trout for the win.

It was the biggest speckled trout caught in decades in this area -- and the world record for a speck is 14 pounds, ten ounces. Art planned to have the fish mounted.

Other top fishermen and women included Gord McWalters and his wife, Kay, who caught 5.3 and 4.8 pound pickrel respectively. Kim Roberts caught a 1.93 kg trout, Keith Hodgson a 1.275 kg trout, and Mark Schell, trout of 1.9 and 1.8 kg.

The winners kept their bait a secret, so competitors this year will be on their own to find the right combination of hook, line and bait to land the fish that will take home the prize.

The winner will be announced at 2 p.m. after the weigh scales close.

Logging show tests skills

The roar of chainsaws and the thudding of axes will resound over Head Lake again this year as the Lumbermen's show returns to the Haliburton Winter Carnival. The event offers professional loggers and back yard amateurs a chance to compete in a number of events designed to test their skills as modern day woodsmen.

Competition will begin at 2 p.m., and should provide plenty of action for spectators as well as for those who want to participate.

In the chainsaw competition, the object is to cut two slices off a twelve inch log held firmly in a saw horse. The competition begins with the saw on the ground and turned off, and ends when the slices have been cut and the saw is turned off again.

A second event pits muscles against logs. It's the traditional cross cut saw competition in which a two person team races against the clock to cut through a 12 inch log. Technique and teamwork are the keys to success here.

Arms and shoulders will also be called into action in the axe chop competition. Here too, the challenge is to chop through a log in the shortest possible time.

The fourth event planned for this year's Lumbermen's show is the tree felling competition. Several poles will be set up, and competitors will attempt to 'fell' the tree trunk so that it falls as close as possible to a pre determined spot. This event demands expertise with a chainsaw, since the precision of the notching is the main factor in determining where the tree will land.

Winners of each event will receive trophies for their efforts, as well as applause from what is sure to be an enthusiastic gathering of spectators.

In these days of wood stoves and wood burning furnaces, when just about every local resident has a wood pile in his backyard, there are sure to be dozens of skilled cutters and choppers out there who'd like to test their skills and have some fun at the same time.

And who knows? It could be that the amateurs will give the professionals a run for the trophies.

Toquepic's story

On February 17, the first day of the Haliburton Rotary Winter Carnival, the character with a toque for a body and skates on his feet will celebrate his 16th birthday.

Toquepic, as he is known, has been turning up in Haliburton County ever since the first winter carnival was held in Haliburton in 1969.

And this year, in a tradition that's as much a part of the carnival as parades, trappers' breakfasts and dances, Toquepic has come back again to act as symbol and mascot for the winter carnival festivities.

The story of Toquepic (though he wasn't called that at the time) goes back to the first winter carnival committee. They wanted a symbol to go along with that first carnival, something that would stay in people's minds, and that would represent the spirit of outdoor, winter activities in the Highlands.

The call went out for ideas from local citizens, and in a short time nearly 100 people had submitted designs for a carnival logo and mascot.

Art Ward, who was a member of that first committee, recalls among the 100 submissions were 30 from one man, a potter who had a studio near Irondale. The committee liked his submissions, and from among the 30 designs they chose the present symbol, the creature based on a toque who wears sunglasses and skates.

He remained officially nameless that first year, but by the second year of the carnival, it was agreed that a name should be found that would suit the drawing.

The call went out for ideas once again and this time more than 300 names were submitted. The winning entry, "Toquepic", was submitted by a 14 year old boy from Rexdale.

Since then, Toquepic has made his appearance in the Haliburton County Echo and on carnival related literature every year as carnival time approaches.

Over the 14 year history of the carnival, Toquepic has been made into dolls, some as large as four feet high, and has found his way onto numerous parade floats and into many ice sculptures. He has appeared in advertisements, has written a column in the Echo, been printed on buttons, and has been turned into toques for sale as souvenirs of the Haliburton Winter Carnival.

Two years ago, ARC Industries workers turned out dozens of Toquepics, each about two feet high, and they were hung on poles along Main Street for throughout the carnival. These Toquepics are going up again this year.

Toquepic was there at the beginning and it's expected that he will be there year after year, so long as there's a winter carnival in Haliburton village.

Go family skating, enjoy a chili supper

If you're looking for some exercise and a chance to do something as a family, why not take advantage of the free skating being offered on Friday at the Dysart arena? The doors will open at 4 p.m. and the ice will be available until 7 p.m.

And if the cold air and the effort of gliding around the ice leaves you hungry, as it is almost sure to do, there's no need to hurry home again. All you have to do is head upstairs to the arena auditorium.

Gallery to feature local crafts

People who attend this year's Haliburton Winter Carnival will once again have an opportunity to see and perhaps buy some of the best arts and crafts produced in Haliburton County. The Rails' End Gallery, adjacent to Head Lake Park, is once again staging a show and sale of works produced by members of the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts.

The show opens at 7 p.m. on Friday night and continues through nine p.m. On Saturday the doors of the Gallery will open at 10 a.m., and sale items will be available through to 5 p.m.

As an added attraction, a display of model railroading is being put on by the Lindsay and District Engineers. This should prove popular with youngsters, and with the young at heart, who still remember the sights and sounds of steam locomotives and the romance of Canada's railways.

Make it a point to visit the Rails' End Gallery during the carnival. It's a facility to be proud of, and a testament to the vitality and commitment of the artistic community in the Haliburton area.

Make a snow sculpture and win a cash prize

If you're like most people, you've probably got a little bit of the artist buried in you somewhere. Maybe you've even tried your hand at painting or woodworking or photography or pottery. Even if you've never really tested your creativity before though, the winter carnival will give you a chance to do so in a way you may never have thought of before. There's no need for brushes, paints, potter's wheel or chisels. All it takes is a pile of snow scraped off your lawn, a bucket or two of warm water, a vision of an animal or character and maybe, although it's not essential, a cup or two of hot chocolate to keep you going. Shape the snow to match your idea and you just may walk off with a prize in this year's version of the Winter Carnival snow sculpting contest.

Once again there will be two categories in the competition. Schools, clubs and other groups who put their collective imaginations together and come up with an icy creation will be eligible for one of three prizes. First prize is $25, second prize $20, and third prize $15.

Individuals can also compete for prizes of $20 and $10.

Sculptures contribute in no small way to the carnival atmosphere, and anyone with the time and the inclination is urged to get some friends together and give it a try.

Judging will take place Saturday morning. If you decide to enter, contact Marvin Varty at 457-1975 to ensure that the judges include you in the contest.

Chili supper at arena

where the local CGIT group is serving up a chili supper.

The food will be available from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Cost is just $3 for adults and $2 for children, for a meal that is sure to satisfy even the biggest appetites.

So why not get into the carnival spirit on Friday afternoon and plan to bring the whole family out for some skating and a feast of chili? It's a great way to begin a busy weekend of carnival activities.

Snowmobile racing will again be a Carnival highlight

In the past few years, snowmobile racing in various forms has become one of the main events of the Haliburton Rotary Winter Carnival, and if all goes according to plan, this year should be no exception.

Race organizer Pat Kennedy says two days of events have been scheduled, with classes for snowmobiles and all terrain, three wheeled cycles.

Saturday will be devoted to drag racing on a 600 foot tract of sheer ice. Snow has been plowed off the ice of Head Lake and all is expected to be in readiness for this popular competition, which last attracted some 150 entries. This year interest is expected to be even greater, and Kennedy says entries could top the 200 mark.

Entrants in stock snowmobile classes will pay a $5 entry fee and compete for trophies. Modified classes require a $25 entry fee, with 75 percent of the money earmarked to be returned as prizes to the top riders.

Two classes have been established for ATC's as well, both stock and modified, with similar entry requirements and prizes.

Last year, for the first time, a radar gun was used to determine top speeds at the finish line, and that practice is expected to be followed again this year.

On Sunday, grand prix style racing will come to the lake, as competitors race around a twisting track, and fly over jumps that will test riding skill as well as the mechanical durability of the machines. ATC riders will compete in a similar event, but on a shorter track. In both cases, spectators should have a good view of the action.

There is no charge for admission to the racing on Saturday and Sunday. No spectator vehicles will be allowed on the lake.

Kennedy says two way radios will be used for the first time this year to speed up judging and make the events run more smoothly.

The Sunday races will feature six classes, plus a pro stock class for the most serious competitors. Since there are no other major snowmobile events taking place in the province on Haliburton Carnival weekend, some of the top riders

Hockey on Saturday

Hockey fans should find plenty to keep them interested over carnival weekend this year.

On Friday night at 7 p.m. there'll be OMHA minor hockey playoff action at the Dysart arena. Several local teams are engaged in provincial playdowns at the moment, and it's too early to predict which teams will be squaring off on the first night of the carnival. But whoever gets the nod, the action is sure to be exciting, and fan support will be welcomed by players and coaches.

On Saturday the local men's recreational hockey league is hosting a one day tournament, with trophies and cash prizes to go to the winning teams. Eight squads will be on hand, from Haliburton, Minden, Bancroft, Wilberforce and the surrounding area. Play begins at 8 a.m. and will continue throughout the day, with the final game expected to take place late in the afternoon.

Anyone who wants more information on the tournament can contact organizer Roger Bain.

There will also be hockey on Sunday afternoon involving local OMHA teams in Ontario playoff action. Once again, it's not known at this time who will be playing, but the local boys would welcome fan support in their bid to advance into further playoff rounds.

Skating show caps months of practice

Figure skating has been growing in popularity in recent years, as more and more attention is focussed on national and international skating competition. But it is at the local level that skating has really found its strength. In community arenas across Canada, youngsters spend long hours practising turns, spins and jumps under the watchful eye of coaches, who offer advice, encouragement, and perhaps the kind of constructive criticism that can help a promising skater become a champion.

In Haliburton, figure skating is flourishing. For the past several months, youngsters from the community have been working hard to improve their techniques, and on Sunday, February 19, parents, relatives and friends will get a chance to see the young people perform.

This year the annual figure skating carnival will take as its theme 'Smurfs in Strawberry Land'.

The show is sure to bring a smile to your lips, and perhaps to warm your heart a little too, so plan to be at the Dysart arena on Sunday afternoon. The program begins at 2:30 and should finish at about 4:30 p.m. Admission is $3 for adults, children 12 and under $1, and preschoolers, free.

Ski-nanigans at Sir Sam's

Several events should test skiers

Downhillers to race at Sir Sam's, cross country enthusiasts can tour

There's more to a winter carnival in Haliburton than dances, hockey tournaments, bonspiels and snowmobile races, although these events certainly play an important part in making the weekend a busy and enjoyable one. Skiers, both alpine and nordic, also will find that their interests have not been forgotten by organizers of the 1984 carnival.

For those who enjoy a quiet day on some of the best trails in the province, Pinestone Inn is the place to be on Saturday morning, when there will be fun and games for the whole family. In the afternoon, members of the Haliburton Highlands Cross Country ski club will lead short and long organized tours.

If you are an experienced skier, and you want even more of a challenge than the intermediate trails at the Pinestone can provide, you can take a couple of hours and test the contours of the Jim Beef Trail. This groomed and clearly marked route begins near the museum at the north end of Head Lake and winds its way through attractive hardwood bush to link up, after several kilometres, with the Pinestone Inn circuit. If you set out on this route be sure to ski with a friend and take a plastic tip so you'll be able to continue in the unlikely event that you break a ski.

Downhill skiers have been enjoying one of the best seasons in several years, and conditions at the Sir Sam's ski area at Eagle Lake are excellent. That should make for plenty of laughter and fun over carnival weekend, as Sir Sam's stages a number of events tailored to skiers of every ability.

On Saturday afternoon at 1 p.m. there will be a Molstar race, in which skiers can test their skills against those of top downhiller Steve Podborski. The idea is to see how close you can come to matching the time set by an expert skier who earlier in the season, skied against the clock on a course that Podborski had run. By comparing your time with the expert, you can compare yourself to Podborski. That may sound complicated, but in practice, it's easy, and a lot of fun too.

On Sunday, skinanigans will come to Sir Sam's once again. This day of zaniness and merriment gives skiers a chance to express themselves on the slopes while sporting unusual costumes. Those who dress up for the day get a discount on their tow tickets, and may also win prizes when the costumes are judged.

In a more competitive vein, there will be a giant slalom race at 1 p.m. for the Curry Motors Cup.

And to round out the day's activities, youngsters can participate in a hunt for chocolate bars that have been scattered over the hill.

All in all, carnival weekend will be a busy one for skiers, so why not tune up your equipment and plan to take part.

Bonspiel begins on Friday

The Pinestone Inn invitational curling bonspiel has become a fixture of the Haliburton Winter Carnival, one that gives curling enthusiasts a chance for some keen but friendly competition throughout the weekend.

Last year some 96 curlers, making up 24 rinks from many clubs in southern Ontario, took part in the spiel, and this year it is expected to be just as popular. Each team will play a minimum of three games, and there will be plenty of opportunity for spectators to take in the action from the spacious, comfortable viewing lounge overlooking the club's four ice surfaces.

Winners of the three game high competition last year, with 52 points, was Steve Colliver's rink of Sue Bennett, Mervel Mintz and Linda Mintz.

The Morris Anderson rink of Bobcaygeon were second in the three game high competition with 51½ points, while Bob Colliver's Haliburton rink were close behind with 50½ points.

The two game high competition was won by Bob Rodgers of Oshawa with 42 points. Close behind was Randy Colliver's rink, with the Jim Holmes rink of Haliburton in third spot.

Single game high winner was Wayne Shea's rink from Bobcaygeon, who chalked up 29½ points.

The Oshawa rink of Thorny Bailey had the distinction last year of scoring the least number of points in any game of the spiel, precisely none!

But like all the curlers, Bailey's foursome had a good time, and that, after all, is what recreational curling is all about.

Refreshments will be available throughout the day, so why not drop by and watch the competitors in action.

International darts are back...

And local players hope to show the English how the game is played

On Carnival Sunday there will be a sporting event with an international flavour.

A team of darts players from the Red Lion Pub in Deadman's Cross (near Bedford, England) will challenge players from Branch 129 in seven "singles" matches. The most interesting aspect of the game is that no English players will set foot in Haliburton -- the game will be played over long-distance telephone.

Over in England elimination playoffs are underway to determine the seven best -- the players who will represent the pub. At this end, playoffs are also nearing the end.

Sunday afternoon seven players from Haliburton will stand ready. A call will be placed to Deadman's Cross.

With players at both ends ready, single games of "301" will be played -- one at a time. The game is fairly simple -- players try to score as high as they can until they near the exact total -- 301. To finish they must score 301, the last points coming on a difficult "double".

Although the idea has been tried before, notably in Welland, Ontario, it is only the second time it has been held in Haliburton.

It will be interesting to see just how well our local players can fare against veteran English dart players. Last year Jack Morrison of Haliburton was the only competitor to defeat a Red Lion team member.

Everyone is welcome to attend the matches. The doors of Branch 129 will open at 12 noon and remain open until 6:00.

For an admission fee of just $2, those attending will receive a traditional meal of a meat pie, "bangers and mash". "Bangers", for those not in the know, are sausages. "Mash" is potatoes.

To make the game a little quicker, the usual "double in" provision in singles play will be done away with. Players will simply begin by trying to score as many points as possible, then "double out" at 301.

Why not take the time out and drop by the Legion on Sunday? It will be well worth the visit -- that's for sure.

Crazy carpet rides a favourite with kids

Youngsters have been practising it at recess and after school for almost two months now, ever since the first snowfall made the hill at Victoria Street School a great place to slide. And on Saturday afternoon, February 18, the young at heart as well as the young will have a chance to experience the thrill of a run down the ice slick slopes on a slippery length of plastic known as a crazy carpet.

Crazy carpet riding has become one of the most informal and enjoyable activities of the winter carnival, and if the weatherman smiles on the proceedings again this year, it ought to draw large crowds to Victoria Street School once again.

Action gets underway at noon and continues to 2 p.m.

There's plenty of room on the slopes for everyone who wants to give it a try, and you don't have to be a youngster to enjoy the sensation of speed and exhilaration that only a crazy carpet ride can bring.

Can local dart players defeat the men of Deadman's Cross, England? Come out and cheer them on
